DAILY GAZETTE.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

—Pennsylvania Day. Hooray.

—The Old Keystone leads the van.

—Pennsylvania Day is to be the success of the season.

—Jack Frost is endeavoring to beat back Indian summer.

—New York is trying to organize a system of cheap cabs.

—General Braxton Bragg met his last enemy yesterday.

—Gen. Butler's taxes in Lowell are $1,555—and he pays them.

—Moulton threatens to have Bro Shearman indicted for perjury.

—A gypsy Queen prophecies the election of Hayes and Wheeler.

—The Graphic places the income of Jas. Gordon Bennett at $750,000.

—Cardinal red and hunter's green are the correct colors for this winter.

—The religious papers this week pay fitting attention to Gen. Newton.

—The croquet players of Connecticut have a State tournament this week.

—Plenty of fiery works and water will be disposed of in Philadelphia to-day.

—Tenbroeck—four miles—7:15¾—fastest time on record, at Louisville yesterday.

—Everybody says business is reviving, and what everybody says must be true.

—They say you can't see the show at Philadelphia now because of the crowds.

—A thorough-going bankrupt of Springfield, Massachusetts, pays one cent on the dollar.

—Tilden's war record is shown up in another column. It is mighty interesting reading for loyal men.

—Boss Tweed will have his home on the rolling deep for the next thirty days, and after that—ask Tilden.

—The school children, such of them as desire to go, can enjoy that little "excurt" to Philadelphia after all.

—Cooler weather — heavier underwear. So shalt thou keep out the cold and the medicine man from thy door.

—Both Hayes and Tilden indicate their confidence of success by resolutely abstaining from unripe watermelon.

—The New York Herald baptizes Hell Gate with the new and less suggestively profane name of "Newton's Channel."

—The wrangle as to who really did get the highest medal has now commenced among the Centennial exhibitors.

—"Strong wine is a mocker," but that's more than can be said for Tilden's coffee extract. There wasn't any Mocha about that.

—Jesse, son of President Grant, and Rutherford B., son of next-President Hayes, have just entered Delta Kappa Eps at Cornell.

—The scourge of yellow fever in the South is spreading. At Savannah and Brunswick the situation is one of great distress.

—Knott has been nominated again. Perhaps he will not be so naughty in the next Congress; if he is, call Blaine to take his top-knot off.

—Gen. Newton is taken to task by the New York World for not explaining to the Sabbatarians why he let off his giant powder on Sunday.

—The honors of the political campaign are fairly divided. The calm part is possessed by the Republicans and the pain by the Democracy.

—There is an interesting controversy in Cincinnati as to whether it is correct for the Lady Capulet of "Romeo and Juliet" to wear six-buttoned gloves.

—The season is at hand when the pensive house fly hangs gloomily to the early morning walls and wishes to gracious that some one would get up and build a fire.

—Tilden did not send a regiment to the war, or pay his income tax, but his heart was in the cause. He pushed the coffee and yeast contract for his brother with vigorous devotion.

—It strikes us that with such as Horvatov-itch, Prot-itch, and Popov-itch, these Servian troops ought to come bravely up to the scratch.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

—George William Curtis made a point at Concord when he said that the nomination of Charles Francis Adams was designed "for export trade and not for home consumption."

—Procter Knott was nominated for Congress yesterday. They have not learned wisdom down in Kaintuck or they would not have put forward such a naught among political figures.

—Gentlemen may cry peace, peace! but there seems to be no peace or prospect of it in the East. The armistice has ended and the warriors have again betaken themselves to war paint.

—The bathing season at Pittsburgh having been prematurely brought to a close by the cool weather, the waters of the Monongahela are growing noticeably clearer.—Brooklyn Argus.

—Ingersoll is not only the best stump speaker in Illinois, but he is also the best poker player. When it is known that he and Schenck are going to meet on an Ohio steamboat the fare for that trip is raised 50 per cent.

—Base ball players, from whose character the elements of humanity have not been wholly obliterated, are beginning very solemnly to ask themselves why it is that Thanksgiving Day always follows so closely upon the end of their playing season.

—Better prices are expected for American grain because of the short crop in England. The market here shows the effect already, but happily there is no wild speculation started, and the improvement in prices promises to be of a substantial character.

—Some amusement was caused not long ago, in an English Court, by a female witness, who, on the oath being administered, repeatedly kissed the clerk instead of the book. It was some time before she was made to understand the proper—or at least the legal—thing to do.

—The report that Mr. Sankey will be supplanted by another singer at the revival meetings in Chicago is authoritatively denied, as is the report that there is any disagreement whatever between him and Mr. Moody. Mr. Stebbins only organizes and directs the chorus choir to supplement Mr. Sankey's work.

—A Redpath lecturer, while speaking up in Scott county, used the French quotation, "Honi soit qui mal y pense," whereupon the ladies in the audience stared, then blushed, then looked at each other and got up and stalked out of the hall, and the local paper in its criticism, said that "portions of the lecture were too indecent for publication."

—Complaint is made that the proprietors of the Trois Freres restaurant at the Centennial Exposition have revolutionized the relations of the sexes so far as it is in their power to do so. They have women to keep the books, men to cook and to wait on the tables, and men again to do the little sewing that is necessary in the establishment.

—A Democratic exchange wants to see Tilden elected in order that he may "touch the corpse of the National credit and restore it to life." We don't believe Mr. Tilden would fulfil this expectation. The National credit is an exceedingly lively corpse, capable of getting up in its grave clothes, if necessary, and making it hot for the individual who approached it with any such resurrectionary nonsense.

—The house that Brigham Young is building for his favorite wife, Amelia, is said to be elegant. Surrounded by a large, beautiful lawn, inclosed by a low iron fence, the building is three stories, mansard roof, with bay windows, towers, conservatory, and porches, and verandas so arranged as to make an imposing pile. Here will reside Amelia and her brood, and the favorite takes care of the first wife of Brigham, an aged, helpless woman.

—In an article on the "Interior Trade," the New York Bulletin says: "The trade reports from all parts of the country, except the fever-stricken region of the South Atlantic, are of the same encouraging character with those which we have been publishing from time to time since the commencement of the month. The increasing activity extends beyond the mere commercial movement, and embraces a numerous class of industries heretofore stagnant."

—Charles Reade has been presented with the ladies' Centennial brooch by Mrs. Jas. T. Fields, of Boston. In return the author has sent a teapot of the last century, of antique and curious design, bearing the following characteristic inscription:—"Charles Reade dedicates to the ladies of Boston and presents to his esteemed friend, Mrs. Fields, this pot of the period when the citizens of Boston turned their harbor into a teapot and tasted the sweets of liberty."

—It appears that Cardinal Manning has been giving an address in which he points out what he considers signs and omens that England will return to Catholicism. Mr. Moncure Conway, on the other hand, believes that no unsophisticated mind can agree with the Cardinal. "One need only pass a little time in the country places of England to find how completely the very soil in which Catholicism once grew has been changed. All the legends and traditions, the very folk-lore of the ancient Church have passed away utterly from the popular mind and memory."

Compliments to Gen. Newton.

NEW YORK, September 27.—Gen. Newton yesterday received a vote of thanks from the Board of Pilot Commissioners for his successful engineering at Hell Gate. A complimentary reception is tendered him on Monday evening next at Gilmore's Garden.

FIRST EDITION.

TILDEN'S WAR RECORD.

Proofs of His Disloyalty.

Why Honest Democrats Cannot Vote for Him.

(From the Brooklyn Argus, Sept. 25.)

BROOKLYN, September 22, 1876.

To the Editor of the Argus:

I and several friends desire such information as you can give us in regard to Tilden's course during the war. If, as we have seen asserted, Mr. Tilden's position was not that of a good, patriotic citizen, we shall not vote for him, although we are opposed to anything which bears the impress of Grantism. At present we are

TILDEN DEMOCRATS.

We will endeavor to concisely answer our friends and make the answer documentary and indisputable on every point.

Mr. Tilden refused to sign the call for the Union square meeting in 1861, the object of which was to raise men to save the national capital from falling into rebel hands or from being burned. We have been informed that the paper was presented to Mr. Tilden by Hon. Samuel Sloan, a member of Mr. Tilden's own political party. Mr. Sloan urged upon Mr. Tilden the propriety of signing the call, and, after consultation, left it in Mr. Tilden's possession over night. Tilden returned the paper unsigned. Of this fact Governor Dix bears testimony as follows:

"SEAFIELD, FORT HAMPTON, N. Y.,
"July, 1876.

"DEAR SIR—Yours is received and I hasten to reply to it. Mr. Tilden did not "unite in the call for the great Union meeting in New York after the attack and sur"render of Fort Sumpter. But he refused "to attend it, though urgently solicited to by "one of his own political friends. The "meeting was called for the purpose of sus"taining the Government, and to provide "for sending troops to Washington, which "was thought to be in danger of an attack "by the Confederates.

"I am, dear sir, truly yours,
"JOHN A. DIX."

Numerous and various efforts were made during the four years of the war to raise money to furnish soldiers in the hospitals with medicine, food, clothing and nurses. We do not remember to have ever seen Mr. Tilden's name attached to one of these subscription lists. Patriotic citizens were frequently called upon to subscribe money for taking care of soldiers' wives and children. We do not remember to have ever seen Mr. Tilden's name attached to one of those subscription lists. Necessity frequently demanded of citizens that they should advance money to pay bounties to those who were willing to enlist to fight the battles of their country. We think that Mr. Tilden's name cannot be found upon one of these lists.

A record of individuals contributing to the expenses of the war, in any considerable amounts, was published in 1865, under the name of "The Tribute Book." It contains copies of every subscription paper known to have been gotten up in the Northern States. Mr. Tilden's name is not to be found in this book of 500 pages.

On April 17, 1861, a subscription paper was started in New York to aid in sending forward the Seventh Regiment. Forty gentlemen subscribed $100 each. Mr. Tilden subscribed nothing. He was then estimated to be worth over $2,000,000.

On the 22d of April, 1861, the "Union Defence Fund" was started. Mr. Astor gave $10,000; Mr. Stewart gave $10,000; Mr. J. G. Bennett gave $3,000; Mr. Belmont gave $1,000; and four hundred other wealthy gentlemen gave large sums. Mr. Tilden gave nothing.

About the same time the Bar of New York called a meeting and raised a separate "War Fund." Mr. Tilden, although he is now called an "eminent lawyer," and was then the wealthiest lawyer in New York city, did not attend the meeting or subscribe anything for its purposes.

In May of the same year, a subscription was started in New York to assist General Frank Blair, since then Democratic candidate for Vice President, to raise a regiment in Missouri. Among the subscribers are again found the names of Belmont, Phelps, Hunt, Havemeyer and other Democrats. But Mr. Tilden's name is not found. About this time Cornelius Vanderbilt donated a steamship worth $700,000 to the Government, and A. T. Stewart made another donation of $50,000.

In March, 1864, a great Sanitary Fair was held in New York. It requires twenty pages of "The Tribute Book" to record the names of the contributors—several thousand. Stewart again gave $10,000, James Lenox, $5,000; Morris Ketchum, $5,000, &c. The aggregate subscriptions amounted to over $1,351,000. Not one dollar was given by Samuel J. Tilden, then reported to be worth $5,000,000.

Soon after a similar Sanitary Fair was held in the sister City of Brooklyn, where Mr. Tilden owned a large amount of property. Several hundred thousand dollars were contributed—the wealthy men of New York doing their share, but Mr. Tilden gave nothing.

It is estimated by "The Tribute Book" that over $70,000,000 were voluntarily contributed by patriotic citizens of the Northern States to provide for the soldiers and their families during the four years of the most gigantic rebellion recorded in the history of the world—a rebellion which armed, and equipped about 1,000,000 men on its side, and which called for the enlistment of 1,845,000 men to put the rebellion down.

Instead of affording assistance to the Union soldiers, Mr. Tilden was speculating out of their necessities, defrauding the Government by issuing illegal currency in Michigan, and by withholding his immense income from taxation, also by defrauding the city which gave him local protection, out of a just proportion of his taxes. Being a fellow ring member with Tweed in the Tammany Committee, Mr. Tilden's large personal property was only assessed for purposes of taxation at the following ridiculous figures:

1861	Nothing
1862	$5,000
1863	5,000
1864	5,000
1865	5,000

This under-valuation of property through Ring influence, was not just the way in which patriots did things in the dark days of the rebellion. Mr. Tilden was principal owner of the "Jackson," the "New York," the "Sea Cliffs," and other mining companies on the Upper Michigan Peninsula. For eleven years those companies issued "currency," of which Judge O'Grady said in 1874:

"The Court is clearly of the opinion that "the issue of all these notes and iron cur"rency, so-called, IS ILLEGAL, CON"TRARY TO THE STATUTE, and that "they are void upon their face. They bear "not only the ear-marks, but all the princi"pal features of a bank note and are utterly "worthless for the purpose of circulation. "THEY CANNOT BE THE SUBJECT OF "FORGERY; THEY ARE A SPURIOUS, "WORTHLESS, BASTARD CUR"RENCY."

The penalties for this violation of the laws are found in the statutes to be:

"NO PERSON, association, or body cor"porate, whether public or private, except "such bodies corporate as are or shall be "expressly authorized by law to do a regu"lar banking business and to issue "bank bills, shall issue any bills, notes, due bills, drafts, or other evidences of debt in "the similitude of bank bills, or to be loaned "or put in circulation as money, or to pass "or to be used as a currency or circulating "medium; and every PERSON AND "EVERY MEMBER OF SUCH COR"PORATION who shall violate the pro"visions of this section shall be punished "by IMPRISONMENT IN THE STATE "PRISON not more than three years, or in "the County Jail not more than one year, or "by fine not exceeding $1,000, or both, in "the discretion of the Court, and any such "corporation shall thereby forfeit all its "corporate rights and privileges."

To get rid of the "penalties and fines" for this violation of the laws of his country, Mr. Tilden had a "relief" bill smuggled through Congress. It was entitled:

"An Act to authorize the Secretary of the "Treasury to adjust and REMIT CER"TAIN TAXES AND PENALTIES "claimed to be due from mining and other "corporations.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of "Representatives of the United States, That "the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is "hereby, authorized and directed to SET"TLE AND RELEASE any claims for "taxes on circulation of evidences of in"debtedness made against any mining, "manufacturing or other corporations, "WITHOUT PENALTY," &c.

It would be the judgment of most men that transactions like the above are not very good evidences of "patriotism" or very good credentials for a man who is asking the suffrages of patriots to assist him to the high position of President of the United States.

We have not done with our evidence of Mr. Tilden's opposition to prosecuting a war against rebels. Mr. Tilden was Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions at the National Convention in 1864—ten months before the rebellion was crushed out. He then reported the following resolution:

"Resolved, That * * * justice, humanity, "liberty, and the public welfare demand "that immediate efforts be made for a ces"sation of hostilities," &c.

It does not seem to us that this was exactly the manner in which "patriotic citizens" dealt with rebels in 1864. Of course this resolution beat the party at the election, although the Convention endeavored to destroy its harm by nominating a war candidate, in the person of General McClellan.

The year after the Convention and close of the war, 1865, James Parton had occasion to write a biography of Mr. Tilden as the head of the Great Northwestern Railroad Ring. But Mr. Parton also took occasion to make the following remarks in regard to Tilden's patriotism:

"The name of Tilden will ever live as the "author of this and kindred yearnings for "peace. Whenever the Southern States are "restored into full political power, this res"olution will alone be a sufficient passport "to their affections, and we predict that the "Chairman of that Committee will live to see "the day when his leadership will be ac"knowledged from Richmond to New Or"leans, as it now is supreme upon Manhat"tan Island."

Mr. Tilden has lived to see the day when his discouragement of the Northern cause and encouragement of rebels, brought to the National Convention a full set of Southern delegates to nominate him for the Presidency. From 1861 to 1865, Tilden sowed the seeds which, in 1876, have blossomed into a full crop of Southern supporters. But he will find that his Southern strength will be one element of his Northern weakness.

If other evidence of Mr. Tilden's traitorous course towards the North is required, we refer our readers, and particularly "Tilden Democrats," to ex-Governor Underwood, of Vermont, who recently said:

"I have known Mr. Tilden for twenty "years; I heard him declare, in conversa"tion with myself, near the close of the war, "that every man of the United States army "that marched across Southern soil was a "trespasser, and liable to suit for damages, "in an action for trespass! I asked him if "he undertook to talk such treason as that, "and if it was his opinion, as a lawyer, "that this Government could enlist men, "put arms in their hands, and send them "to the protection of the Government "against rebels, and then furnish tribunals "to try its own soldiers as trespassers— "and he said that it was."

Over a half million Democrats shouldered their muskets and enlisted for the war. The State of New York sent over 400,000 soldiers, more than one-half of whom were Democrats. Governor Seymour issued commissions to 13,000 officers during the two years of his executive term. One half of the contributions to provide for the soldiers, take care of their families and pay the war debt have been and are to be made by Democrats. It is impossible that Tilden, with such a record as is above shown, should secure a single Republican vote, and it is equally impossible that honest Democrats, who fought rebels while Tilden intrigued with them, who paid their money while Tilden hid his away, and who have become impoverished, while he was swindling the Government out of millions, will not largely repudiate him at the polls. We think that we have answered some questions, which ought to satisfy every honest Democrat, and settle the prospects of the coming election.

PENNSYLVANIA'S DAY.

The Programme at the Centennial Exposition To-Day.

PHILADELPHIA, September 27.—The weather to-day was delightful, and the attendance at the Centennial Exposition very large. Many people came into the city to be present at the Pennsylvania Day celebration to-morrow, and they help to swell to-day's throng. Every indication is that the attendance to-morrow will be tremendous, and many predict that the crowd will number a quarter of a million. Thousands of tickets have been presented by employers to employes. The gates will be open at 7 A. M., and closed at 8 P. M. At 10 A. M. the Centennial authorities will escort the Governor and his staff from the Pennsylvania State building to Judges' Hall. On their arrival the ceremonies will be opened by the singing of an original ode. Governor Hartranft will preside and deliver an address. General Hawley, President of the United States Centennial Commission, and Mr. John Welsh, President of the Centennial Board of Finance, will follow. The Hon. Benjamin Harris Brewster will then deliver an oration. From 2 to 3 P. M. Governor Hartranft will hold a public reception in the Pennsylvania State building. From 3 to 5 P. M. Mayor Stokeley will hold a public reception in the Philadelphia City building. From 3 to 5 P. M. 21. Discharge of 50 batteries of silver Saucissons.
22. Final Girandole of 2,000 large colored rockets, forming a magnificent aerial bouquet.

WASHINGTON TOPICS.

The Income Tax.

The Internal Revenue Commissioner has issued a circular letter to the United States attorneys in Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and other important collection districts in various parts of the country, authorizing them to institute suits against all parties against whom evidence can be presented of not having paid the whole or any portion of the taxes due the Government under the law providing for a tax upon incomes. This will render persons liable to suit for such recovery from the date at which this tax first went into effect, and the Commissioner entertains the opinion that the result of his action will be to recover a considerable sum of money to the Government. The consolidations of the various internal revenue districts recently decided upon will all be perfected on the 1st of October, and the new order will then go into effect.

The Safe Burglary Case.

The testimony in the safe burglary case was closed yesterday. To-day the counsel will sum up and the case be given to the jury.

THE CIVILIZED INDIANS.

They Oppose the Proposed Removal of the Savage Sioux to the Indian Territory.

VINITA, INDIAN TERRITORY, September 27.—The Cherokee and other civilized Indians of this territory are greatly excited over the proposed removal of Sioux into this country. They say the Government is again proposing the violate treaty stipulations by removing these Indians to their country without their consent. They characterize the action of the commission in agreeing to give the Sioux homes in the territory of Oklahoma as being similar to the one made by Satan on the mountain 1,800 years ago. There will be united and solemn protestation by all these people against the consummation of this alleged outrage against the rights of the civilized as well as the Sioux Indians.

Emperor William and Lord Derby Interviewed on the Eastern Question.

The Armistice a Failure and Hostilities Resumed.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Eastern Question.

LONDON, September 27.—A deputation headed by the Lord Mayor presented to the Earl of Derby to-day resolutions passed at a meeting on the Eastern question in Guild Hall on the 18th inst. Earl Derby said: "You may be quite sure that the Government cannot underrate the strength of popular feeling which undoubtedly has shown itself so strongly in the last few weeks with regard to the Bulgarian atrocities. I apprehend we all agree in principle as to what ought to be done. I shall in a few days be able to publish a dispatch which has been sent to Sir Henry G. Elliot, British Ambassador at Constantinople. He has been directed to interview the Sultan and lay the facts fully and unreservedly before him, to denounce by name the persons indicated by Mr. Baring as the principal authors of the atrocities, and call for their punishment. He has also been directed to represent the urgent necessity for relieving the sufferings caused by the atrocities. Special attention is to be given to numerous cases of the abduction of women. They must be searched for and restored to their homes."

In regard to the question of convoking Parliament, Lord Derby pointed out that this was the course which was only adopted under the most urgent circumstances, such as the declaration of war, but in the present instance we are not at war, or in the least likely to be so. We have no urgent measures to propose to Parliament. It is useless to summon Parliament to influence the negotiations, for if things go as smoothly as we hope it is possible and probable then all the most material points will have been settled between the powers before Parliament could possibly meet. It is conceivable that a state of things might arise so fraught with danger as to necessitate the summoning of Parliament, though I am bound to say such a state of affairs does not appear probable to me. I do not think you will see the peace of Europe or the Turkish Empire broken up."

Lord Derby then discussed the various policies advocated, and said: "I think we may look for a possible and practicable solution in the direction of local autonomy. I don't conceal it will be difficult to make such reforms work, but I believe it possible. The practical objects for which we labor are equal treatment of Mohammedans and Christians, security of life and property, and effectual guarantees against a repetition of the outrages. I do not wish to disguise that the atrocities have to a certain extent exchanged position, not only of this, but of every European Government, in regard to Turkey. I think it not necessary to express any opinion in regard to the merits of the war begun by Servia and Montenegro, but as neither side has obtained any decisive success they may fairly treat the matter as a drawn game and revert to the state quo ante bellum."

Lord Derby concluded his speech as follows: "I confidently believe we shall see this matter brought to an issue without any fresh effusion of blood. Do not imagine you can settle the Eastern question by saying what you wish done. The question is, What under the circumstances possibly can be done?"

The Cause Servia's Course.

LONDON, September 28.—A Belgrade correspondent telegraphs as follows: "I think there is no doubt that erroneous ideas regarding the course England may pursue, which have been created by public meetings in London and the British provinces, have something to do with Servia's ex[illegible]

[illegible] that it would in no case be inclined to recognize the title of King if it were conferred on Prince Milan, and that all practical consequences sought to be drawn from such an act would encounter its most determined protests.

Hostilities Recommenced.

LONDON, September 27.—A special from Zimony says the Servian Government has yielded to the pressure put upon it by General Tchernayeff. Minister Ristics refuses to accept a prolongation of the armistice for eight days, and in point of fact hostilities have now recommenced. The proclamation of Prince Milan as King is expected shortly.

BELGRADE, September 27.—M. Ristics, Servian Foreign Minister, last night sent a note to the English and Italian Consuls, recapitulating the complaints made against the Turks for breaches of the armistice, and pointing out that collisions would continue to recur if hostilities were merely suspended for eight days as proposed by the Porte. The note of M. Ristics concludes as follows: "I take the liberty of requesting you to make known that the Prince's Government regrets that it is unable to order a prolongation of a state of things which experience has shown to be impracticable. The Government at the same time expresses an earnest wish for the conclusion of a formal armistice, under such conditions and of such duration as would lead to the attainment of the end in view, namely, peace.

At a council of ministers held yesterday, over which Prince Milan presided, it was unanimously decided to reject the conditions of peace recently elaborated by the powers and the Porte. The council also resolved that Servia should not submit except in the event of foreign occupation, and to fight until the independence of Servia and Bosnia is secured.

The Servians yesterday burned two bridges which had been thrown over the Morava by the Turks. There were also some engagements between outposts of the Servian and Turkish armies.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

A Desperate Battle.

NEW YORK, September 27.—News from Panama just received states that in an engagement on August 21st at Lacchaineos, in the Cauca, between rebels and the Government forces, the rebels lost more than a thousand killed and wounded, while the Government forces lost two hundred killed and three hundred wounded. The rebels engaged numbered sixty-five hundred men and the constitutional forces thirty-two hundred.

GERMANY.

Emperor William Interviewed on the Eastern Question.

BERLIN, September 27.—Emperor William, in addressing a deputation on the Eastern question at Stuttgart to-day, said: "A basis now appears to have been found for the policy of the great powers, which we may fairly hope will lead to a very satisfactory result."

The Fast Mail Commission.

CHICAGO, September 27.—The Special Railway Commission, in a three hours' session to-day made considerable progress, examining Mr. J. D. Long, general manager of the Pennsylvania Company, J. C. McMullen, of the Chicago & Alton, and Mr. Hughart, of the Northwestern. At one o'clock the Commission left for Milwaukee. They will hold a two days' session this week at Cincinnati.

MILWAUKEE, September 27.—The special Postal Commission visited Milwaukee to-day, and were met by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce, who argued strongly in favor of restoring the fast mail.

Some fifteen hundred seats were provided in the hall for invited guests. The programme for the ceremonies attending the presentation was as follows: March, Centennial, by the orchestra; prayer, Rev. Henry A. Boardman, of Philadelphia; music, the Temple Quartet, of Boston; address by United States Commissioner Daniel J. Morrell; music, national airs; address by United States Commissioner Alfred T. Goshorn; music by the Temple Quartet; presentation of awards by General Joseph R. Hawley, President United States Centennial Commission; song, "America," by Mrs. H. M. Smith, of Boston, with Temple Quartet Club; promenade, First Brigade Band.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machines.

PHILADELPHIA, September 27.—A splendid triumph. Wheeler & Wilson were awarded the highest and only special premium for sewing machines, two medals of merit and two diplomas of honor. This splendid triumph is not a surprise. The judges are the ablest of mechanical experts, and they subjected these machines to a careful, rigorous and exhaustive examination. Under all the circumstances Wheeler & Wilson's new machine must be considered in system, devices, arrangements, material, workmanship, durability, ease and rapidity of motion, beauty of stitch, wide range and quality of work, the standard sewing machine of the world.

Spool Cotton.

America is also ahead in spool cotton. The Willimantic Company were awarded the diploma of honor and medal of merit for superior spool cotton and thread.

Furniture.

The Pottier & Stymus Company, the great furniture manufacturers of New York, have been awarded the diploma of honor and medal of merit ovar all competitors. This award coincides with the judgment of the visitors at the Centennial, who have universally pronounced their display of artistic furniture and interior decorations the finest in the Exhibition. This is a victory over the whole world.

Steinway & Sons' Pianos.

The agony of exhibitors as to awards is over. The formal ceremonies of the announcement were held this evening in Judges' Hall. President Hawley, for the Centennial Commission, presented the lists of those to whom diplomas and medals had been awarded to the President of the United States, who delivered them to the several foreign and State commissioners. Owing to the fierce competition among piano manufacturers, the greatest interest was manifested to know who had carried off the highest honors. Steinway & Sons, as usual, are the victors, and the Judges at Philadelphia endorsed the verdicts of the juries at Paris and at Vienna. Forty different makers, composing all the most noted at home and abroad, competed, and the American Steinway is the best. The following extract which will serve as an illustration, tells why the Judges in their report recommended the awarding of a diploma and medal to the Steinway:

"For the greatest concert capacity in grand pianos, as also the highest degree of excellence in all their styles, viz., largest volume, purity and duration of tone, and extraordinary carrying capacity, with precision and durability of mechanism, also novel disposition of the string and construction and bracing of the frame."

After this follows a minute description and endorsement of six of the principal and most valuable of Steinway & Sons' patents.

Decker Bros.' Pianos.

The Decker Bros.' grand square and upright pianos have been awarded the diploma of honor and medal of merit by the Judges of Award and by the Centennial Commission. The Centennial authorities were not empowered to grant any higher award, and the Decker Bros., having achieved this distinction, may justly claim a triumph over the whole world. All the best American and foreign makers were represented in the contest, and the decision in favor of Decker Bros. is therefore all the more important and honorable.

Weber's Pianos.

Weber, of New York, received the highest award for pianos at the Centennial Exposition.

Weed Sewing Machines.

HARTFORD, September 27.—Our city is in a blaze of excitement in consequence of the news from Philadelphia, that the Weed Sewing Machine Company, one of our most important institutions, has received the highest award at the Centennial exhibition, an honor most worthily bestowed.

"BOSS" TWEED COMING.

On Board the U. S. Steamer Franklin—His Companion, Hunt, Set at Liberty.

NEW YORK, September 27.—A dispatch from Vigo states that William M. Tweed was removed at half past nine o'clock last evening from his fortress prison, Castillo Del Castro, where he had been confined for twenty-one days, to the United States frigate Franklin. Tweed offered very little objections to his removal. He was treated with every consideration, and the quarters of Rear Admiral Case were assigned him. Tweed's companion, William Hunt, was taken on board the Franklin, but was almost immediately set at liberty. Hunt, after his release, was very reticent, and still maintains that his friend Secor was not William M. Tweed. Hunt, after leaving the Franklin, went immediately to see an American friend at the Hotel Europa, and registered there under the name of "R. Sands." Sands is considered to be Tweed's son. There was much opposition to the surrender of Tweed, and the action of the Government was almost unanimously condemned. Hunt speaks well of the treatment he and his companion received at the hands of the Spanish authorities. They were not allowed to communicate with each other and were closely guarded, but otherwise they received every courtesy and attention. The hour for the departure of the Franklin is set for two this afternoon, and it is calculated that the voyage to New York will take about thirty days, as whenever possible sail will be used instead of steam, in consequence of the Franklin not having a capacity to carry coal enough for a long voyage.

Coal Sale in New York.

NEW YORK, September 27.—The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Company sold one hundred thousand tons of Scranton coal at their sales rooms in Exchange Place. The attendance of buyers was large. The prices were below those of the sale of Wednesday last. The lots sold, with prices, were as follows: 8,000 tons steamboat, $2.87@2.92½; 25,000 tons grate, $2.97½; 15,000 tons egg, $3.15@3.30; 40,000 tons stove, $3.90@4.00; 12,000 tons chestnut, $3.20@3.32½.

Death of Gen. Braxton Bragg.

GALVESTON, September 27.—This morning Gen. Braxton Bragg dropped dead while crossing a street in front of the post office, aged sixty-one. The body lies in state at Artillery Hall. The remains will be taken to Mobile if arrangements can be made with the New Orleans steamer for conveyance. He was in his usual health up to the moment of the attack. The cause of death was fatal syncope, induced by disease of the heart.

Crooked Whisky.

CHICAGO, September 27.—A quantity of illicit whisky has been traced from Ansonia, Ill., to Chicago, and to-day ex-Aldermen Thomas Welsh, Peter McGrath and a storekeeper named Goslyn, were arrested on a charge of conspiracy in the removal of the spirits, and warrants were issued for John Corcoran and J. J. McGrath, on the same charge. The authorities are very reticent about the matter.

Marine News.

LONDON, September 27.—The steamships California and Mosel from New York have arrived out.

NEW YORK, September 27.—Arrived—The steamship Labrador from Havre.

QUEBEC, September 27.—The steamship Langshaw, which sailed on the 23d for London, is ashore near Sydney, C. B., and likely to become a total wreck.

The Yellow Fever.

SAVANNAH, September 27.—The yellow fever interments to-day were twenty-two.

WHEELING, W. VA., September 27.—An entertainment will be given at Hamilton Opera House on Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Savannah sufferers, at which time Richelieu will be produced, with Charles Pope in the title role, supported by Miss Rosa Rand and the New Orleans variety company.

KING, REED & CO.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1876.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 49¾.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 103¼.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 109⅞.

RUSSIA, it is stated, will not support the proclamation of Prince MILAN as King. At the present the prospects of peace are rather flattering, and all the Great Powers are earnestly consulting in the interest of that result.

IT WILL be thirty days before TWEED arrives in New York. He was put on board the Franklin yesterday afternoon, and appeared quite depressed over it. He has been very kindly treated, and will receive every attention on his way home.

AN Eastern journal notes, as signs of coming defeat to the Democracy, that they are making the usual preparations, by proclaiming in Indiana and Ohio, that fraudulent votes are to be brought in to defeat them. An unfailing sign of the coming sorrow.

A TEMPORARY panic occurred, yesterday, in the money market, Third street, Philadelphia. By some description of manipulation the bears managed to break Reading Railroad stock, pushing it down some ten per cent. It rallied a little later in the day, and then declined again. It was not considered a serious matter, except as a sudden raid on a given line of stock. All the other stocks sympathized with the decline.

THE more thoroughly the accounts of negro uprisings in South Carolina are investigated, the more palpable is it that they are mere fabrications, and that the many brutal murders perpetrated are designed to terrorize the blacks from the polls. A species of terrorism, thus excited, would prove immensely valuable to the Democratic party. We certainly hope Governor CHAMBERLAIN will spare no pains to bring the perpetrators of these outrages to strict justice.

TO-DAY is set apart by the Governor as a legal holiday,—so far as his proclamation can make it so. It will be celebrated at Philadelphia as "Pennsylvania Day," at the Centennial, and the entire Centennial city proposes to observe it as a gala day. We do not doubt that the day will be generally observed in this city, the Clearing House Committee, it being understood, having taken action on the subject, as regards our banks. So in other departments, there will be a tolerably general observance of the day. It is a day of much interest, in that it dates the adoption of the first State Constitution. It is, therefore, of special interest, and worthy of universal recognition.

IT is hardly the thing for Republican journals to speak of the issue[illegible] we are told; yet it is surpris[illegible] pletely those issues come [illegible] mingle in the actions of the pr[illegible] winter, among other war ite[illegible] down to the present, was the [illegible] JEFF. DAVIS, in connection with [illegible]dersonville horrors. It was prov[illegible] he sustained WIRTZ, in the face [illegible] evidence that he had perpetrated hor[illegible] atrocities on the Union prisoners in [illegible]dersonville. Yet after all the terri[illegible] facts of brutality had been brought o[illegible] against him when the vote came to be taken, on the question of granting him amnesty, Mr. HOPKINS voted in his favor. This is a fact worth remembering.

ACCORDING to programme laid down, the statue of WILLIAM H. SEWARD, the work of RANDOLPH ROGERS, was unveiled in Union Square, New York. The oration was delivered by WILLIAM M. EVARTS, whose eloquence has been widely praised. WILLIAM H. SEWARD ranks as one of the greatest statesmen the country ever produced. He dared great things and hated small things. He fought slavery from the first, when to do so required almost superhuman courage. We have seen him in the United States Senate facing it almost alone. He was the foremost advocate of national development. He voted for all internal improvements, and was as free to support a subsidy for a great railroad or a new steam-line, as he was for a measure of relief to a political enemy. His career was well rounded and complete when death bore him away.

WE publish, in another column, TILDEN's record as a patriot during the war. He is held up as a grand and noble man, by the Democratic press, who drank in Reform when a child, and has been a lofty and pure minded patriot ever since. In all the efforts to aid the Union cause, during the war, TILDEN was conspicuously absent. In the many donations made to aid soldiers his name is not found. When speculations were to be indulged, out of which money was to be made at the expense of the soldiers and Government, he was on hand. In mining and other stocks, he operated, issuing shin plasters, which were so palpably in violation of the law, that a special law was passed by Congress to relieve them of the penalties. When patriots were needed, not a patriot was he; but now, when it pays to be considered a patriot, he is full of the strongest kind of Unionism.

A VERY important session of the Congress of Geographers at Brussels, was held some ten days since, at which plans were matured for the complete and thorough exploration of Africa. A brilliant galaxy of explorers were present by invitation of the King, comprising the most distinguished company of explorers ever before gathered together. The King in an address pointed out that Brussels, on account of its neutral position as a nation, offered special advantages for the organization of an international exploring expedition. He then set forth, to be considered, 1. The careful selection of bases of operation, to be established on the coast of Zanzibar and near the mouth of the Congo, either by purchase or treaty with the native rulers. 2. The designation of routes to be successively opened into the interior, in connection with stations of relief and supply, the latter to be also established both in the interests of science and of humanity, in promoting friendly intercourse with the native tribes. 3. The formation of an International Central Committee to superintend the execution of the plan, after it shall have been definitely fixed, and of separate National Committees to present it to the people of their several countries, and procure contributions. The last reports from the conference state that the first and second of these propositions have been discussed, and accepted by a large number of members. The territory to be explored has been greatly circumscribed by recent discoveries, but there still remains a vast region of unexplored territory, that will be fully developed, under this last form of exploring enterprise.

MUCH interest is again felt in the building of the inter-oceanic canal, that is to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The British Consul, in writing to his Government on the subject, alludes to the United States survey, but thinks the line will be built from Greytown to Brito, on the Pacific. The estimated cost is $66,000,000, which, as usual in all great public works, will almost certainly be exceeded. This is a large sum to raise, but it has been suggested that the United States Government might advance it, or at least guarantee interest upon it. To this the consul objects that there would be "strong opposition from the holders of capital (said to exceed $400,000,000) already invested in the extensive railway system connecting the Eastern and Western States of America." He also thinks that the bulk of the European trade with China would not pass through the Central American route were it open, but would prefer the Suez Canal. Allowing that the European traffic with Asia did pass through the Red Sea, the Central American route still would have the immense and increasing California and Pacific trade, none of which, under such circumstances, would be sent round Cape Horn.

COUNTY FAIRS.

The several county fairs are now in progress, and when the weather is suitable form delightful gathering places for the people in large sections of country. Perhaps this is, everything considered, the most useful and interesting feature of the Fair. The simple life led by farming folk makes their wants few. They love to look upon a healthy yellow harvest field, or a snug barn well stored with food for man and beast, or a cottage where the linen is of snowy whiteness and the wood work fairly glistens from its daily scrubbing; and how to perpetuate these joys and increase their number is the great problem on which their minds are kept at work. When several old friends come together after the separation of a year they have plenty of notes to compare: Farmer A has been testing a new fertilizer with his corn, and Farmer B has been making some experiments in melon culture, and both have perhaps brought the results of their labor for exhibition at the Fair; the women, too, have their dairy processes and the latest novelties in worsted work to discuss. It has been frequently suggested, however, that such gatherings might be made more practical, were some special effort made to interest and instruct the young, the farmer's boys and girls who are just learning the details of farm life. It is not for us to suggest the method, but the fact should be considered and looked after. Farm life is one, usually of hard labor, and of few recreations. Were more of the entertaining and social element provided, it might serve to retain the young men and women in that line of life, rather than to send many of them to the cities.

Yet, as a rule, the county fairs are scenes of undoubted enjoyment. The abandonment of care, and the perfect happiness with which the simple pleasures of the occasion are imbibed, furnish a feature of life fit for the artist's brush. There are rivalries too, in the products, of the soil, animals, cattle and products of home labor. The counties surrounding our city are fertile and wealthy, and their annual fairs are places of pleasant resort. We are glad to hear that they are generally well attended.

TILDEN'S COFFEE.

After considerable care and earnest hunting, there is one act of loyalty discovered, that can be credited to Mr. TILDEN, as his contribution to the war. He did not give money to raise, equip, or pay the bounties of soldiers; nor did he commend the Union cause. Yet it has been asked, was he a man destitute of sympathy? Not he. He had a brother, in the extract of coffee business, and the keen SAMUEL soon saw that it would prove particularly comforting and beneficial to the soldiers in the field. He soon managed t[illegible] T[illegible] du[illegible] trac[illegible] was [illegible] in wi[illegible] full of [illegible] fee stanc[illegible] the extra[illegible] Fifty regim[illegible] rival coffee [illegible] The TILDEN family [illegible] "extract," and they were ready to lay themselves as a sacrifice on the altar of their country, provided they could keep on furnishing the "extract." But it was of no avail. Mr. TILDEN's devotion to his country lasted from October 1, 1861, to October 5, 1861, just five days, his devotion being contained in 587 cases of the "extract," amounting to $15,531 and some cents. We place on record this remarkable exhibition of sympathy. It is a bright oasis in a vast desert of selfishness. We record it gratefully. But isn't it a trifle remarkable, that all his benevolence should circle around, and find a resting place in the TILDEN family. What an immense unionist he would have been, had the war for the Union brought financial benefits to the TILDEN tribe.

THE RAILWAY BUSINESS.

There are a number of facts being brought to light, by the railroad wars, that serve to show us that the science of railway management is as yet in its infancy. It might be supposed that the railroad having the shortest line, and least debt could carry goods with greatest economy, and at the lowest rates. The competition for the Western traffic is now rather one of cities than of distance. For example the Baltimore and Ohio road has a shorter line to Chicago than the New York Central; and in the pooling arrangement, based on mileage, which has been prevalent, the Baltimore & Ohio road had the advantage, and gained on the other, in its bulk of freights. The Central thereupon adopted the principle of carrying goods at the same rate from Chicago to New York, as is charged to Philadelphia or Baltimore. It argues that the city is the true objective, and that it is the interest of the Central road to promote the growth and prosperity of New York. It therefore discards the mileage system, and promotes the advantage of a given locality. This is in accordance with the idea of fighting for through travel, a principle which, in our view is entirely erroneous. It is just this struggle for distant freights which is at the bottom of the discriminations from which this city has so greatly suffered. That freight can be carried relatively cheaper, the greater the distance and the less frequently it is handled, we very well understand. Yet it will be an unfortunate day for the country, when the struggles between the railroads shall be over through freights, and the losses suffered in that struggle assessed on the local roads.

One element involved in this struggle is, in itself, correct. It has been discovered that it is more profitable to a railroad company, and to the greater profit of the country, to carry five tons of freight where one was carried before, and to receive, three-fifths as much per ton as was received for carrying the one ton, and to so reduce the operating expense that the five tons may be moved at the previous cost of moving the one ton. The balance-sheet of such transactions will show a much larger profit than that of the old way, but the increased profit to the country is incalculable. In the first place, it permits the producer to sell five tons where he sold one ton, and to sell it at an advance equal to the reduced cost of transportation; it enables him to purchase a proportionately increased amount of manufactures in exchange, and leaves an increased market for the latter branch of industry among the fifteen millions and more of consumers in the West. But we think the same rule is good for shorter distances. There is a rate of railway charges which a given line of manufactures can stand and prosper, and where this is taken into account, the result will be to develop manufactures and produce along a given line of road. Were this rule applied to Pittsburgh it would greatly advantage our manufacturers and merchants. We do not, in this, ask that rates shall be as low as on Chicago freight, as the greater distance traversed according to the amount of handling, should be taken into account. But if the idea is, that one city shall be as highly favored as another, Pittsburgh should be as well situated as is Philadelphia or New York. It may be a long time before the whole system of charges shall be brought down to a given rule, but there is hope in the competitions and changes that are going forward. So far as progress has yet been made, the lesson simply is that those cities prosper best which make it most to the interest of the railroads, in some form, to favor them. Philadelphia, Baltimore and New York, are the great shipping and commercial cities of the East, and it is to the interest of the great lines that centre in each, to make them prosperous. Chicago is the common western centre of several lines, and so holds them. Why should not Pittsburgh profit by these hints.

POLITICAL NOTES.

THE Philadelphia Press says of Tilden's explanation: "We shall be greatly mistaken if this explanation, instead of convincing the public of the author's honesty, does not make them suspicious that he is much more of a falsifier than they have supposed."

THE Charleston News heads a telegram with the announcement that the whites in Robbins, S. C., are "in arms in self-defense," and under it we read: "Two Whites Certainly Killed—Hattieville in Danger—Only Twenty-five or Thirty Negroes Killed, so far."

"OH, GO 'WAY!" exclaimed the great Reformer to an importunate friend; "don't ask me to explain anything. It takes the point so completely out of anything to explain it. What is an explained conundrum worth, I'd like to know?" And he turned away and filled up another check for the Treasurer of the Democratic State Central Committee.

IT HAS been intimated that large numbers of Metropolitan Tweedite Democrats are greatly disgusted by the event of Sunday, understanding the explosion of "Hell Gate" as the destruction of the gates of hell. It is hoped that their terror of the bottomless pit may have the effect of deterring them from voting more than once or stuffing the ballot boxes at the coming election. "A guilty conscience is self-accusing."

THE Cincinnati Enquirer, good Democratic authority, if there is any in Ohio, said June 25: "Tilden as a 'reformer' is good. It would be a difficult matter to find a finer specimen of the human wolf than this remarkable Tammany politician, railroad undertaker, and conscienceless attorney." And this is why the Enquirer has not the face to say now that the Allen Democrats in Ohio will vote for this "human wolf."

MR. TILDEN's explanation of his reason for refusing to report his income after 1862, is not creditable to his patriotism or his sagacity. He says "he received no favor from Government officers and asked none. He did nothing but pay all they imposed on him." This is quite coppery in flavor. It seems to show that Mr. Tilden looked upon the Government officers as his natural enemies. He is an humble [illegible] imposition! This [illegible]an votes for the [illegible]l not, except per[illegible] —Cincinnati Com[illegible]

The Colonel replies promptly with a quotation from his private history. He says he was a Douglas Democrat in 1860, and was running for Congress on that ticket. Some of the "wheel-horses" became alarmed at his uncomplimentary allusions to the Fugitive Slave law, and asked him if he could not support that party measure. His reply settled their doubts: "Gentlemen, if I ever step between any man and his liberty I hope God Almighty, with his thunderbolts, will dash me to h—ll!" In 1861 he left the Democratic party and has since been a Republican.

THE New York Tribune is not a bloody-shirt organ. It has this to say on the subject of troops in the South: "When Judge Taft became Attorney General he had on all sides an established reputation as a Republican of liberal views, and as an upright, fearless man who would never allow partisanship to overcome his sense of right. He has done nothing since he has been in office to indicate that he is not the same man to-day. If he believes troops are needed in the South, and says so frankly, the simple fact of his belief is the best evidence that the troops are needed. The partisans who are howling against him for changing his views are simply advertising their own inability to judge impartially where the success of their political desires is concerned."

Sounded Like Business.

He wanted her (says the Danbury News), but she would not give her consent until she had consulted her parents. So he went into the room where they were and modestly stated the case:

"And you really think you love her enough to marry her?" said the father, after he had finished.

"Oh, yes, sir," said the youth in fervent eagerness, "I love her with all my life. I love her better than I do my life. She is my guiding star, the worshipped object of my every thought, every hope, every aspiration." He stood there with clasped hands, his face radiant with the strength of his devotion. There was a moment of pause, and then the mother softly asked:

"What do you think of that, old man?"

"That sounds like business, old woman," replied the satisfied father.

And so it was arranged that the daughter should accept her suitor.

A Terrible Tragedy.

When Seth got home from mackerelling he sought his Sarah Ann, and found that she, the heartless one, had found another man. And then most awful tight he got, and so he went away, and bound himself to cut live oak all down in Floriday. He pined upon the live oak land, he murmured in the shades, his axe grew heavy in his hand, all in the wild-wood glades. Mosquitoes bit him everywhere, no comfort did he get, and how terribly he'd swear whenever he got bit. At last, despairing of relief, and wishing himself dead, he went into the woods a piece and chopped off his own head.

INGERSOLL'S WAR DREAM.

A Thrilling Burst of Genuine Eloquence.

When Colonel Ingersoll faced his old comrades, the Boys in Blue, at the Indianapolis Convention, the inspiration of the occasion caused him to give impromptu utterance to the following eloquent, touching and pathetic passage. We have never read anything of the kind equal to it. It proves him to be a natural-born orator of the highest order.

He was recalling the scenes of the war, and said:

The past rises before me like a dream. Again we are in the great struggle for national life. We hear the sounds of preparation—the music of the boisterous drums—the silver voices of heroic bugles. We see thousands of assemblages, and hear the appeals of orators; we see the pale cheeks of women, and the flushed faces of men; and in those assemblages we see all the dead whose dust we have covered with flowers. We lose sight of them no more. We are with them when they enlist in the great army of freedom. We see them part from those they love. Some are walking for the last time in quiet woody places with the maidens they adore. We hear the whisperings, and the sweet vows of eternal love as they lingeringly part forever. Others are bending over cradles, kissing babies that are asleep. Some are receiving the blessings of old men. Some are parting who hold them and press them to their hearts again and again, and say nothing; and some are talking with wives, and endeavoring with brave words spoken in the old tones to drive from their hearts the awful fear. We see them part. We see the wife standing in the door, with the babe in her arms,—standing in the sunlight sobbing,—at the turn of the road a hand waves,—she answers by holding high in her loving hands the child. He is gone, and forever.

We see them all as they march proudly away under the flaunting flags, keeping time to the wild, grand music of war,—marching down the streets of the great cities,—through the towns and across the prairies,—down to the fields of glory, to do and to die for the eternal right.

We go with them one and all. We are by their side on all the gory fields,—in all the hospitals of pain,—on all the weary marches. We stand guard with them in the wild storm and under the quiet stars. We are with them in ravines running with blood,—in the furrows of old fields. We are with them between contending hosts, unable to move, wild with thirst, the life ebbing slowly away among the withered leaves. We see them pierced by balls and torn with shells in the trenches by forts, and in the whirlwind of the charge, where men become iron, with nerves of steel.

We are with them in the prisons of hatred and famine; but human speech can never tell what they endured.

Four million bodies in chains—four million souls in fetters. All the sacred relations of wife, mother, father and child trampled beneath the brutal feet of might. And all this was done under our own beautiful banner of the free.

The past rises before us. We hear the roar and shriek of the bursting shell. The broken fetters fall. These heroes died. We look. Instead of slaves we see men, and women, and children. The wand of progress touches the auction-block, the slave-pen, the whipping-post, and we see homes and firesides, and school-houses and books, and where all was want, and crime, and cruelty, and fetters, we see the faces of the free.

These heroes are dead. They died for liberty—they died for us. They are at rest. They sleep in the land they made free, under the flag they rendered stainless, under the solemn pines, the sad hemlocks, the tearful willows, and the embracing vines. They sleep beneath the shadows of the clouds, careless alike of the sunshine or of storm, each in the windowless palace of rest. Earth may run red with other wars—they are at peace. In the midst of battle, in the roar of conflict, they found the serenity of death. [A voice—"Glory."] I have one sentiment for the soldiers living and dead—cheers for the living and tears for the dead.

HINTS FOR HOME COMFORT.

Some Suggestions to be Carried Out During the Long Evenings.

First among home pleasures I would put flowers. If you are too poor to have a carpet on your floor, do have a flower in your window. The sight of it will rest you when you are weary, and its fragrance will drive away many of the cares of your life and fill your mind with a sweet peace.

Then, when Jack Frost breathes upon our trees and turns their leaves into all sorts of rich and beautiful colors, take a large book—Patent Office Reports are splendid—and hie you into the streets and parks—the walk will do you good—and gather some of the loveliest leaves and put them between every third leaf of your book. Then when you are rested, or the next day, take a lump of beeswax, a moderately hot iron, and a piece of brown paper. Lay the paper on something,—a table or board,—pass the wax over the face of the iron, and, placing one leaf at a time upon the paper, pass the iron quickly over it. Be careful not to have the iron too hot. Your leaves now will retain their brilliancy all winter, and are ready for use. They look lovely interspersed with pressed ferns, vines and flowers, grouped around pictures and brackets, and looped in window curtains. Use small pins to fasten them to the wall.

Then you can, with very little trouble, make a cornucopia of perforated cardboard,—work it with two shades of brown zephyr in square or tiny acorns; suspend it with cord and tassel of the zephyr, and fill it with dried grasses, ferns, and leaves, and it can't fail to please.

I could tell you numberless ways of using autumn leaves, and one lovely way of ornamenting flower pots with them, but will let that wait another time, and tell you now how to make a slipper case for your husband, or your brother would appreciate it either, and trust me you will not be troubled any more picking up slippers after "his mighty highness" has gone down town in the morning."

Procure some pasteboard—a large box will do—and some ten cent domestic. Now cut one piece of the pasteboard something in the shape of a shield, about 18 inches long and 11 inches wide in the widest part; this is for the back piece. For the front, cut a piece just like the back, only shorter and about an inch wider. Cut for each piece of the pasteboard two pieces of the domestic, allowing room for a seam, which run up on the machine, leaving a hole large enough to slip the pasteboard in, and stitch that part up by hand. Now arrange at the bottom and top of the front piece a tiny group of ferns, and in the center form the words "Slippers" of pieces of ferns; fasten these in place with pins or needles, and spatter them. I suppose every one knows how to "spatter," so I need not describe it.

For the back piece, arrange a few ferns at the top merely, and spatter; and, when dry, sew the two pieces together with strong thread; form a box-pleating of scarlet skirt-braid, and sew around the edge, and you have completed a cheap and very handsome "slipper-case."

Just one word more: Never let John come home and get his slippers out of the case himself. Let him put them away in the morning, but you get them out in the evening, and place them before the grate, draw up the easy chair, and place his dressing-gown on it.

It won't occupy you five minutes, and though it's a little thing, yet life is made up of "little things," and when the poor, tired fellow comes home at night, do let him always find that grateful "little welcome" ready for him.

"Dual Garmenture."

The Free Dress Reform Club, of Philadelphia, (says the Burlington Hawkeye) has boldly declared that "The garmenture for woman's legs should be of dual form." And then there would still be the same old formal duel who should wear the "garmenture." And the Reform Club did not settle the question whether this "dual garmenture" would be fastened around lovely woman's waist with pins, or held in place by a suspendature. Nor did it resolve that the buttonature of woman's dual garmenture should be kept in a more perfect system of repair than is the case with the manly trowsature. And, if the Reform Club adopts the style of garmenture worn by the sterner sex, they will have to fly a balloon-jib aft to accommodate the bustleture.

Fitting Like a Glove.

A dress must literally fit like a glove to be in the fashion (says the Boston Saturday Gazette). A lady at Newport, last week, wore a skin-like covering of amber satin that was so tight from throat to toe it had to be drawn on. The train was quite a separate affair, apparently, and, though a good many yards of the material were consumed in its construction, she could not bend her knees without bursting the front of the jupe. Poor thing! There she stood all the evening like a brass candlestick, and as unlimber as an old-fashioned wooden doll. The days of the Empress Josephine have returned in all their glory.

CUPID'S TRICKS AT NEWPORT.

The Great Wedding of the Season —The American Girl's Desire for Sensation.

Says a gossippy Newport correspondent: "The great wedding of the season came off last week. So great a display and publicity as such a wedding becomes a matter for comment like any other fine show. For weeks the local press has spoken of the Wardsworth-Travers wedding as about to come off. And now all the items of dress and arrangement and personal appearance, even to the nervousness of the bride's father, who 'appeared a little confused, for the bride was obliged to ask him for the left arm,' is itemized. All the gay world was there, and the floral displays equaled that of the finest funeral. 'I suppose the little Wardsworth-Traver may be as happy as any other bride, but I doubt the capacity for downright happiness in a girl who likes that kind of thing,' was the comment of a young gentleman as he came back from this show. This is rather hard on the fashionable world, for habit is a close groove in which many slip along almost unconsciously, at least unquestioningly, especially in all the great events of life. But as my young gentleman is of the gay world himself, it is certainly a good omen to hear such criticism, even if it be a little hard, for no thoughtful person denies but these grand weddings are getting to be almost, if not quite, vulgar in their publicity. We all remember a wedding of a few years ago, where all the fine linen of the bride was counted up in cost. The lovely creature herself—for she was a famous beauty, whose portrait in a certain studio attracted crowds of gazers—was not given half the attention by the gossips that was given to her lingerie. "How did they find out all these little details?" And "how angry the bride must have been," were some of the comments I heard at the time. And all the time I happened to know the fact that nobody's privacy was intruded upon, and nobody's feelings hurt, and no breach of trust anyway in all this itemizing, for it was simply an invited thing. And the young girl reporter who had some hard things said of her working up of these details confessed to me with great candor that "I was expected to do it, you know." It may have been that, from the prominent position of the bride, so much was necessarily known through work people and servants of these fine things that it was thought better to trust facts than fancies when Dame Gossip had the management of things. But this counting up of stockings and petticoats, etc., is a petty business, and the itemizing of floral offerings, or the better word is, displays, and the noting down of the paternal emotion, etc., is not much better. To be sure the newspapers are to be blamed for the emotion notes. No family, however much they may like or invite free sketches by some florid reporter of their worldly possessions, would be disposed to give instructions that the tremors and tears be made a part of the picture."

FINANCIAL.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, September 28, 1876.

Financial affairs are still about as last reported. The banks are plethoric of money, but careful in placing their loans. There was hardly as much doing at the banks as was expected. The counter business has diminished somewhat in the last week, as has been reflected in the clearings, and except in transactions with country customers, the business of the banks has failed to maintain the encouraging figures of ten days ago. Something of a lull has come, but there is no reason apparent for believing it to be more than temporary. The demand from the interior for currency and loans continues and increases. The orders for currency come from no particular quarter, but are widely distributed. Loans are in request, the tendency on the part of country customers is to apply for as liberal accommodations as they are entitled to. Considerable amounts of country paper are offered for rediscount. In the city there is only a moderate amount of commercial, manufacturing and miscellaneous paper brought to the banks.

Rates of discount are 8@10 per cent. to regular customers; to outside independent borrowers special rates are made, varying with the time and the character of the paper, ranging from 6 per cent. upward. On the street there is less paper offered than could easily be placed. Rates are the same as quoted above.

GOLD AND SILVER.

The progress towards organization of the Gold and Silver Commission has been so slow as to cause doubt in some minds regarding the intention of an earnest and searching investigation. The fact is that the members have been considerably occupied with other matters; and, knowing the importance of the subject intrusted to their care, have not desired to treat it hastily or with partial justice. Some of the members have been necessarily absent, and this, with many other reasons, has occasioned the tardiness of commencement. Still there has been a great deal accomplished in the way of preliminaries, of which many are necessary. The question of how to handle the subject to best advantage is by no means a small one, and to this the members have mostly directed their attention. Of course nothing can be done officially until the three experts are appointed to complete the commission. It is not difficult to find men capable of serving in this capacity, but not many of them are able and willing to devote their time to it. There is no emolument connected with the commission, and those who accept the appointment will do so from an entirely disinterested spirit. Besides the question of the appointment of experts, the main consideration has thus far been given to the means and methods of inquiry to be instituted. Already communication has been made with Secretary Fish, through him to be extended to all the Governments with which the United States has official relations. The substance of these communications is expressed in a series of inquiries in regard to the altered relations of gold and silver, which are believed by the commission to be terse and comprehensive.—New York Herald.

THE WHEELS OF TOIL MOVING.

The South is not only sustaining, but enlarging and increasing its manufactures. Alabama and Georgia and Tennessee lead, and yet no State is without the spirit; and even Texas, while improving its rare advantages for cultivation and pasturage, is resolutely and successfully attempting to combine manufactures with them. The anxiety of the West to excel in this department is known and giving new evidence, while Oregon copies California. Even the older manufacturing States are seeking to magnify their production. Rhode Island has had a convention to improve the facilities of the Blackstone river for manufacturing. Maine is discussing the expediency of employing steam where there is an inexhaustible water power. Western Massachusetts has reorganized its cotton, woolen, glass and paper industries and only laments the inactivity of carpenters and builders. New Jersey reports healthy condition of existing manufactures and has planned their enlargement. Manufactures flourish in Pennsylvania when they do in any State; and so many near and remote evidences of health warrant the hope that the whole country will be enabled to set all its wheels in motion before Europe has outlived her experience of the great industrial depression.

BUSINESS AT CINCINNATI.

Within a few weeks there has been a brightening of business prospects in Cincinnati that is cheering to witness. Our business men are in better spirits than for some years. They feel that we have touched bottom and are again getting up in the world. Confidence is being rapidly restored. Values have ceased to shrink, and there is a general tendency to slight advances. Country merchants having sold out from top to bottom, and cleaned the corners, are coming in for fresh stocks. This is remarkable, and the more encouraging because Presidential year is proverbially dull for business, and this year we lack our Exposition, and there is an immense travel to the Centennial. Our reporters, yesterday, interviewed a considerable number of our most prominent men in business affairs, and the general expression was that there was a marked and happy change for the better. The detailed report will be found of wholesome interest. —Cincinnati Commercial.

NEW YORK, September 27, 1876.

Money closed easy at 1½@2. The customs receipts were $375,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $29,000. Prime mercantile paper 4@6. The clearings were $15,000,000. Sterling was weak at 482@483½. Gold opened at 110, advanced to 110⅛, and closed at 109⅞. The borrowing rates were 2 to 4. Loans were also made flat and 1 for carrying. The steamship Algeria, from Liverpool, brought $250,000. Governments were steady. Railroad bonds were irregular. State securities were quiet. The stock market at the opening was ⅛ per cent. higher than at the close yesterday for Northern preferred, ⅛ for Western Union Telegraph, and ⅛ for Lake Shore and Michigan Central, and ⅛ lower for Delaware and Hudson Canal and Harlem, ⅜ for New Jersey Central, and ⅛ for Delaware, Lackawanna and Western. After an advance of ⅛ in New York Central and Lake Shore, the general market began to decline, and by noon had fallen ⅛a3 per cent., the latter Northwest common. Preferred declined 2⅛. The next largest decline was in Milwaukee & St. Paul preferred, 1⅛. The common fell ⅝. After midday Northwest common recovered ⅞ and preferred ⅞. The remainder of the list was steady at the decline. The coal stocks were lower on news from Philadelphia of a heavy break in Reading. Late in the afternoon the market was irregular, but in the main firm and higher. The Northwest shares led the upward movement, common rising from 31 7-8 to 33 1-4, and preferred from 57 1-4 to 58 1-4. Delaware, Lackawanna and Western followed with an advance from 73 3-4 to 74 7-8, but subsequently reacted to 73 7-8, and closed at 74 1-2. New Jersey Central rose from 25 to 25 7-8, with final sales at 25 1-2. Lake Shore rose to 52 5-8, Rock Island to 103 1-2, St. Paul common to 29 1-2, preferred to 60 1-8, New York Central to 97 1-2, Michigan Central to 41, Pacific Mail to 22 7-8, and Western Union to 69 7-8. In some cases there was a fractional reaction at the close.

At Philadelphia this afternoon Reading sold down to 32½, against 44 regular and seller 60 at the opening. In regard to this Reading movement, it appears that a prominent broker in Philadelphia some weeks since received an order from parties identified with the company to buy 75,000 shares at 64. He has bought considerable from time to time, and this morning completed the last order. As soon as this support was withdrawn the stock commenced to drop, and was helped down by the bears. It was reported at one time to-day that some failures had occurred in Philadelphia, but none were officially reported, especially no large ones, up to the close of business. The par of this stock is 50.

The transactions on the Stock Exchange aggregated 147,000 shares, of which 10,000 were Pacific Mail, 3,000 Western Union, 11,000 Northwests, 5,000 Rock Island, 21,000 St. Pauls, 16,000 Lake Shore, 4,000 New York Central, 2,600 Michigan Central, 16,000 New Jersey Central, and 31,000 Delaware, Lackawanna & Western. The strongest stocks were Lake Shore, Michigan Central and Western Union Telegraph; the weakest Northwestern and St. Paul, and at times the Com stocks.

LONDON, September 27.—Sixty thousand pounds worth of American eagles were purchased yesterday from the Bank of England at 76s 5 1-4d per ounce for the United States. Further purchases are expected because the shipments of wheat and cotton from America are large, and the absorption of the new United States funded loan in Europe is steadily increasing. FRANKFORT, September 27.—U. S. new 5s, 103½.

BERLIN, September 27.—The specie in the Imperial Bank of Germany decreased 6,827,000 marks the past week.

PHILADELPHIA, September 27.—At noon to-day Third street was thrown into another spasm by the sudden dropping of Reading from 44 to 34½ under bear pressure. This decline was so rapid, the drop from 44 to 34½ having been accomplished in less than an hour, that holders were frightened and sold out at ruinous prices. The stock dropped to 32, but by that time better counsels prevailed, and a panic was avoided. Other stocks sympathized with Reading, and all fell somewhat, but not very badly. The cause of the downfall was that a syndicate has been buying up shares for foreign investers. They have been purchasing 60,000 shares, and to-day their list of purchases was complete. They stopped buying, and a scare ensued. The worst is thought to be over now.

COMMERCIAL.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September 27, 1876.

The general markets continue fairly active, and notwithstanding orders are mostly small, there is a very fair volume of business in the aggregate. In mercantile circles there is a feeling of confidence, the impression is gaining ground that the back bone of the panic has been broken, and one of the most encouraging indications, merchants generally say, is the disposition of buyers to do business on a legitimate and safe basis.

APPLES—The supply in our market, although not large is fully equal to the demand, and prices remain as last quoted, $1a1,50 ⅌ bbl.

BEANS—There is little or no demand, and the supply, although light is ample for present requirements; quotable at 90a$1 per bu.

BROOM CORN—Choice hurl in fair demand, with sales at 7 to 8½, as to quality; brush that will work up, 6a6½; medium green, 5½a6; red tipped, 5a5½; inferior, 3a4; crooked, 3a3½.

BUTTER—There is a continued steady demand for strictly prime table Butter, and the supply is light. Common and medium grades in good supply and dull. Prime to choice solid packed in firkins and tubs [illegible]

GROCERIES—The sug[illegible] refined goods, has stiffened [illegible] the past two days, and an ad[illegible] few days is not improbable. C[illegible] especially for prime grades of [illegible] light supply, but there has been [illegible] in prices for some days. The total visible supply in the United States is reported at 287,500 bags, against 362,328 bags at this time last year. The movement in Molasses and Syrups continues light. There is a fair demand for Teas and Rice at quotations.

GRAPES—Quoted at 3a4c per lb.

GRAIN—The grain market continues firm, with very light receipts and offerings and an increasing demand. Wheat is more sought after and is firm at quotations: Penna. and Ohio red winter, $1,15a1,18; do. amber, $1,20a1,22; do white, $1,24a1,25. This grain is reported firm at nearly all the leading centres of trade, and it looks just now as if prices were not likely to rule much, if any, lower for the present. Oats continue firm, with a very light supply, but without quotable change: 36a37c for mixed, and 38a39 for white. Corn is in light supply and firm; Ear, 53a55, on track; Shelled, 54a57. Rye in demand at 63a65c.

HAY—Loose from country wagons, $10a15, as to quality and condition. Baled is quoted at $12a15 for No. 1 Timothy, and $10a12 for No. 2. Prairie, $9a12, as to quality.

MILL FEED—Bran reported easier but unchanged, $12a12,50 ⅌ ton, on track. Middlings in light supply and steady at $20a21. Seconds, shipstuffs, $14a15. The receipts have been light for some time past.

ONIONS—In fair demand and steady at $2,50a3 ⅌ bbl.

OILS—Winter strained Lard Oil firm at 95. Summer strained unchanged, but nominal; No. 1, 78; No. 2, 60a65c. Miners Oil very firm at the late advance, 57 for yellow, and 60 for white. Carbon still quoted at 23a25c.

POULTRY—Live chickens by the coop 35a45c ⅌ pair, according to size.

POTATOES—Irish in light supply but unchanged; 65a75c per bu. as to quality. Sweets in good supply and dull; selling at $3a4, per bbl, the outside figure for prime Jerseys.

PROVISIONS—The general position of the market has not varied much for several days; business is fairly active, and while the feeling is weaker, in sympathy with the advices from the source of supply, prices remain unchanged.

LOUISVILLE, September 27.—Cotton dull at 10½c. Flour firm; extra $3,75a4,00; family $4,10a4,50. Wheat dull; red $1,06; amber $1,06a1,12. Corn dull and unchanged. Rye dull at 68c. Oats firm; white 36c. Pork steady at $16,50. Bacon dull at 7¼a10½a10¾c. Lard dull at 12a12½c. Whisky dull; $1,08.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September 27, 1876.

ARRIVALS.

Following shows the aggregate receipts for the week, as well as those of preceding week also:

	This week.	Last week.
Cattle	430 cars.	458 cars.
Hogs	188 "	149 "
Sheep	54 "	58 "
Total	672 "	654 "

Briggs, Dock & Drum, Commission Merchants for the sale of live stock, at the East Liberty Stock Yards, report the markets as follows:

CATTLE.

Of the 430 cars reported for the past week, 265 cars were through and 265 cars local, against 219 cars of through, and 239 cars of local last week. Sales, 4,333 head; last week, 3,879 head.

The supply the past week has again been large, 165 cars, the largest number, if we mistake not, during any single week this year, but with a full attendance of buyers and favorable reports from the east, trade was unusually active, and while common and medium brought fully as much as they did last week, prime shipping grades brought an ⅛ of a cent ⅌ lb. more. The cattle trade has been quite active here for several weeks, and our business will compare favorably with any of the leading markets in the country, excepting Chicago; moreover, sellers generally have been able to do better here than by going further east, as we are having a very full attendance of buyers, and cattle are bringing all they are worth.

QUOTATIONS.

Prime 1,400a1,500 steers	5,25a5,50
Good 1,200a1,300 steers	4,50a4,75
Fair 1,000a1,100 steers	4,00a4,25
Feeding Cattle—900a1,100 lbs	3,75a4,25
Stockers—700a800 lbs	2,25a3,00
Bulls, Cows and Stags	2,50a3,25

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The supply, although somewhat in excess of that of the preceding week, was not a heavy one, but with a very light demand, trade has ruled dull, and prices, especially for common stock, may be quoted ¼ lower as compared with this day week. As we close our report, there are several car loads in the pens unsold, and it looks as if they would have to be shipped on in first hands.

QUOTATIONS.

Extra 95a100 lbs	4,75a5,00
Prime 85a90 lbs	4,25a4,50
Good 75a80 lbs	4,00a4,25
Fair 70a75 lbs	3,50a3,75
Common 70a75 lbs	3,00a3,25
Indianas, according to quality	3,00a5,00

HOGS.

The arrivals during the past week have been fair in regard to numbers, but common in point of quality, hence, while prime shipping hogs are bringing almost if not altogether as much as they did this day week, the commoner grades are considerably lower. That prime Philadelphia hogs are holding their own, is not in consequence of any improvement in the demand, but because of the very light receipts. The market for scalawags continues dull, as it has been, and with an increased supply, during the week under review, prices are lower.

QUOTATIONS.

Philadelphia Hogs	5,75a6,00
Yorkers	5,50a5,90
Roughs	4,50a5,25

All drafts must be attached to the original shipping bill, and in no case drawn for more than two-thirds of stock. Please telegraph amount of draft and car Nos.

Wheat in Great Britain.

Mr. James Caird writes as follows to the London (Eng.) Times about the wheat crop of Great Britain: The condition and quality is all that can be desired, but as threshing proceeds the yield continues more disappointing. The land under wheat in the United Kingdom this year is 3,136,000 acres, which is 673,000 acres below the average of 1874 and seven preceding years—a decline of more than 20 ⅌ cent. on the average growth. The decline from last year is 378,000 acres, but that will be more than compensated for by the increased yield per acre and the higher quality. I put the gross produce of the present crop at 10,600,000 qrs. Deducting 800,000 qrs. for seed, will leave 9,800,000 for consumption. At the present rate of consumption with us, we require for the coming year about 18,000,000 qrs from the stocks in hand, and foreign importation. This is the fourth year in succession in which America has been our main dependence. If that should fail in any material degree it will be impossible to fill the gap elsewhere. In none of the European wheat exporting countries has there been an average crop. British India has largely increased her export which in the last eight months reached nearly 5 ⅌ cent. of our whole foreign supply. With no quarter from which we can expect increased supplies, and with some prospect of a diminution in the American supply it is satisfactory to know that we begin with a large stock from the surplus of last year's imports. The very fine quality of the wheat of all countries warrants an increase of price in consequence of the decreased area under cultivation. We may before long expect such a moderate increase on the low price of the last two years as to leave some profit for both home and foreign growers.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September 27, 1876.

The Crude market was firmer to-day, and prices were higher as compared with Tuesday; United certificates was quoted this P. M. at $3,65a3,66¼; Union, $3,60; immediate shipment, $3,75, an advance of 5c per bbl.

Refined was also firmer with a better feeling, and while there were no sales reported, there was considerable inquiry; 25¾ was bid for Philadelphia and Baltimore delivery, against 25¼ yesterday, but, from all that we could learn, there were no sellers under 26.

Boston.

BOSTON, September 27.—Flour firm; superfine western $3,50a4; Wisconsin and Minnesota extra family $4,75a5; Illinois $6,50a7,50; St. Louis $6,25a8. Corn steady; mixed and yellow new 60a61c. Oat dull; No. 2 white and mixed 40a51c; rejected 43a46c.

Memphis.

MEMPHIS, September 27.—Cotton steady; 10⅝c; sales 850 bales; receipts 1,000 bales. Others unchanged.

New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, September 27.—Corn meal steady, $2,40a2,60. Others unchanged.

Oswego.

OSWEGO, September 27.—Wheat unchanged. Corn quiet at 58a59c.

Live Stock.

NEW YORK, September 27.—Beeves: receipts 3,800 head, against 2,490 same day last week; there were some very fine cattle shown, but average not good, and several car loads of natives and Texans decidedly common; market opened dull and depressed; feeling ruled weak throughout the day, and closed heavy, at a reduction of fully ¼c from the current rates of last Monday; a few fancy steers sold at 10¾a11c, but 7 1-2 a10 1-2c was the range for poor to prime natives steers, and 6¾a8c for Texas and Cherokee cattle; some of the best Colorado steers sold at 9a9¾c. Sheep: receipts 4,300 head, making 5,700 for two days, against 5,300 same time last week; market quiet, and about steady for sheep, with sales at 4¼a5⅜c; lambs firmer; 5a7c for ordinary to extra. Swine: receipts 5,280, making 6,900 for two days, against 6,900 same time last week; none sold alive.

BUFFALO, September 27.—Cattle: receipts 1,411 head; total for the week 11,679; market active for good grades; fully as strong as yesterday's rates; common slow and dull; ½c off sales; of 100 cars; 30 cars poor unsold. Sheep and lambs: receipts 6,800 head; total for the week 14,400; lambs in good demand at full last week's prices, with a shade advance; western sheep unchanged; sales 28 cars. Hogs: receipts 3,100 head; total for the week 12,800; market active and stronger; good to choice Yorkers $6a6,15; heavy $6a6,10; inferior Yorkers $5,80a5,90; coarse $5,25a5,50; about all sold.

CINCINNATI, September 27.—Hogs steady; common to light $5,50a5,85; fair to good light $5,85a6,15; heavy $6,25.

ST. LOUIS, September 27.—Hogs and cattle dull and unchanged.

INDIANAPOLIS, September 27.—Hogs: $5,50a5,90; receipts 1,400.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, September 27.—The package trade was moderately active. Domestics are generally firm and unchanged. Prints are in brisk demand. Cochecos advanced ½c. Ginghams are jobbing freely. Dress goods are active. Flannels and blankets are in good demand, and men's wear woolens are in moderate request. A peremptory sale of four hundred cases of ginghams, by order of the Gloucester Gingham Mills, was made this morning. The sale was well attended by purchasers from all parts of the United States. Dress plaids sold from 7½c to 8½c per yard, according to style, and fancy ginghams ranged from 8 3-4c to 8½c. Mourning ginghams ranged from 7⅝c to 7¾c, and staple ginghams from 8¼c to 8 1-2c. In several instances the duplicate lots had to be put up a second time. Prices were said to be fully up to market rates.

Wool.

BOSTON, September 27.—There is a very firm feeling for wool; prices continue sustained, with steady demand from manufacturers. The extreme prices asked have a tendency to limit transactions: No. 1 Ohio and Pennsylvania 38a40c; XX and above 42a45c; XXX and pick-lock 45a47 1-2c; Wisconsin and Michigan fleeces 35a36c; choice lots 37a38 1-2c; in combing and delaine sales have been at 39a45c; fine delaine 45 a50c; combing pulled very moderate request and firm; 30a42c; superfine and X good and Ohio 38a42c.

Cotton.

NEW YORK, September 27.—Cotton firm at 11½a11 5-16c; futures barely steady; September 10 7-16c; October 11¼a11 3-16c; November 11 3 16a11 5-16c; December 11 5-16 a11¼; January 11⅝c, February 11 9-16c.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

THE water in the river at this point was stationary, with 6 feet 9 inches by the marks last evening. Cloudy and cooler, with occasional showers.

THE Rover will depart for St. Louis to-day.

COL. WM. E. MERRILL was in the city yesterday.

THE Veteran arrived and departed for the Brick Yards.

THE towboats Baltic and John Dippold have arrived, and the Whale was due last night.

THE Grand Republic will run during the season in the Memphis and New Orleans trade.

CINCINNATI is expecting a larger southern trade this season than she has had for several years.

THE exploded steamer Timmie Baker, wrecked some time ago at Monroe, Louisiana, is to go to New Orleans for repairs.

THE wife of Henry Matheney, formerly a pilot in the Cairo Mail Line, died at her residence, near Harrisburg, Ill., last Tuesday.

THE R. W. Dugan, at St. Louis, is getting her upper guards cut off, preparing for the cotton season in Red or Ouachita Rivers.

THE Enterprise, sunk by collision with the Colossal in the Upper Mississippi, has been raised and taken to Dubuque for repairs.

SWAMP fever prevails among the cotton gatherers of the White and Arkansas Valleys to an extent that retards the pickers very much.

THE Wildwood will be taken to Madison, shortly, and be lengthened 30 feet. The Wildwood has done good service, and is a fast and fine steamer.

CAPT. E. B. COOPER, formerly of the Emma Graham and an old steamboatman, is in San Francisco, Cal., engaged in the furniture business.

THE Granite State is due from Portsmouth today, and will depart as usual to-morrow at 4 P. M. She arrives and departs promptly as advertised.

THE Ella, Enterprise, Sam Clark, B. D. Wood, J. A. Blackmore and Coal City, arrived at Louisville on Monday. The Ella took her tow over the falls.

CAPT. Rees Pritchard predicts a good year's business for Arkansas boats. Eight boats have been heard from, who signify their intention of going into Arkansas this winter.

THE Emma Graham arrived at 3 A. M. from Cincinnati, and departed last evening. She had a good trip up, mostly way business, and a fair freight list and quite a number of passengers.

MICHIGAN will be a regular Saturday Freight boat for Cincinnati. She is commanded by C. E. Riddle, and shippers can rely on any business entrusted to him being attended to promptly.

CAPT. Robt. Hunter, an old-time steamboat commander, died on the 7th inst., at Edwardsville, Ill., of bilious fever. The deceased commanded the Eunice, Ambassador, and a number of other steamers on the Ohio and Mississippi River. Capt. H. was well-known here in Pittsburgh, and, if we mistake not, was a resident of this city for several years.

REFERRING to the free baggage system, an exchange says: It may work well, but we don't believe it. Where a porter has exclusive charge of baggage and depends upon the liberality of passengers, there is never going to be any baggage carried by or lost; but, on the contaary, if first one and then another is depended upon to look after it, a boat will lose more time waiting for a trunk than the man's passage, baggage and all comes to. We have seen it tried, and failed too. True, there are disadvantages in the porter system, and they are often exhorbitant in their charges. Regulate the price and there will be no difficulty. Give the colored man his civil rights and let him 'tote' trunks all he wants, and vote, too.

THE railroads are beginning to squeal just at the time that steamboats are beginning to be profitable. General order No. 6 of Wm. C. Wickham, Receiver for the C. & O. R. R. requires that "from Oct. 1st, 1876 the pay of all officers and employes of this company will be reduced 10 ⅌ cent. from present rates paid them." And recites as reasons for this move "the depressed condition of business in the country and the reduced rates of transdrrtation for freight and passengers consequent thereon, render a general curtailment of expenses absolutely necessary on this road as well as on other roads which have already adopted this measure, to meet the results of low rates."—Cin. Gazette.

THE ST. LOUIS Republican says: Capt. A. H. Shaw built the steamer M. S. Mepham at Pittsburgh in 1864, and commanded her over a year, her first trips being made between St. Louis and Leavenworth city, on the Missouri. She was very popular in that trade and coined money in it. She realized very uniform profits during these trips. The following statement of a 10 day trip was furnished to her owners by her clerk, Mr. John Bird, Aug. 3, 1864: Freight up, $5,920 81; do. down, $3,798 82; passage up, $347; do. down, $1,169. By paid officers, $1,895 33; cabin, $306 36; men, $1,069; labor, $330; repairs, $250; expenses, $867; stores account, $1,132 20; wood account, $994 29. Total receipts, $11,235 63; total expenses, $6,844 46; net gain this trip $4,391 17. And the same paper further says in Monday's issue: That the M. S. Mepham was a valuable 1,100 ton steamboat will be seen by the following statement of receipts and expenses on a trip from St. Louis to New Orleans and return, occupying, including loading and discharging, from Feb. 18 to March 12, 1865 (22 days:) Freight, $16,617 86; passengers, $5,810 60; by paid wages, $4,627 70; expenses, $1,919 41; stores, $3,499 77; fuel, $3,371 15; insurance, $440. Total receipts, $22,428 46; outlay, $14,218 03; gain, $8,210 43. This is the following foot-note in Captain McComas' handwriting: This trip made to New Orleans at the season of high winds and water, causing us to lay by much, and expenses heavy under such circumstances.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

PROFESSIONAL NOTICE.

Drs. Jordan and Davieson

Principals of the Institution of Anatomy, 807 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Lecturers on Anatomy, Physiology and Science, inform their friends and patients that they have again opened a branch office for the practice of their profession at No. 2 EIGHTH STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA., where one of the firm may be confidentially consulted, more especially in all those cases of diseases and debility, for the treatment of which they are so justly celebrated. It is too well known that hundreds, nay thousands suffer from the effects of early indiscretion and seek in vain for relief, for none but the educated physician who has made these subjects a specialty is likely to succeed in restoring the patient to health and strength. To all such Drs. Jordan and Davieson offer certain and speedy relief, and undertake no cases but those in which they are able to guarantee a safe, certain and permanent cure. Their important Medical Work may be had from their office, No. 2 Eighth street, on receipt of 25 cents, and also as usual from their head establishment, 1625 Filbert street, Philadelphia. Hours of consultation from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M., and from 5 P. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Every case is strictly confidential.

DR. WHITTIER,

Founder and Proprietor of the

Keystone Dispensary

302 Penn Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.,

Continues to afford reliable special treatment in all Private, Nervous and Urinary Diseases.

Spermatorrhoea or Seminal Weakness, resulting from self-abuse or sexual excess, producing nervous debility, night emissions, despondency, dizziness, dimness of sight, pimples on the face, weakness of mind and body, and finally impotency, loss of sexual power, sterility, &c., unfitting the victim for marriage or business, and rendering life miserable, are permanently cured in shortest possible time. Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, all urinary diseases and Syphilis (all forms), consisting of skin eruptions, ulcers, &c., are perfectly cured, and the blood poison thoroughly eradicated from the system. Cures guaranteed.

Dr. WHITTIER is a regular graduate of medicine, as his diploma at office shows; his life-long special experience in all private diseases, with purest medicines prepared by himself, enables him to cure difficult cases after others fail—it is self-evident that a physician treating thousands of cases every year acquires great skill. Consultation and correspondence private and free. Pamphlet sent sealed for stamp. Medicines sent everywhere, by mail or express.

Man Missing.

The relatives of Martin Shumaker, who resides in Allegheny, are very uneasy in regard to his mysterious disappearance. On the 19th inst. he left home to attend the funeral of a relative named Hack, since which time nothing has been heard of him. Search has been made in all directions, but no trace of him can be found. It is feared that he has been the victim of foul play.

U. P. Synod of the West.

The first Synod of the West of the United Presbyterian Church, met on Tuesday evening, in the First U. P. Church, Allegheny, Rev. W. J. Robinson, pastor, on Union avenue. Last evening Dr. Jeffers, President of Westminister College, delivered a strong, logical and effective discourse on the subject of "Catholicism in its Relation to our School System."

A Pittsburgher Killed and Scalped.

George Taylor, who left here last spring with a party of Alleghenians under command of Captain Patterson, returned from the Black Hills on Monday evening and reports that four weeks ago, near Rapids City, Captain Patterson was killed and scalped by Indians. His party had left him and are now supposed to be on their way home. Mr. Patterson was fifty years of age, unmarried, and leaves property in Allegheny.

STREET CAR ACCIDENT.

A Lad Badly Hurt in Allegheny.

Last evening about eight o'clock a very serious accident occurred to a little ten year old son of Mr. Wechter, who resides and has a shoe store on Rebecca street, near School street, Allegheny. It appears that the lad was playing on the street with several other boys when car No. 36, of the Exposition line, came down the street at a pretty rapid rate, and one of the horses knocked the boy down and stepped upon his breast, and the wheels of the car passed over one of his legs, inflicting a very large wound and fracturing the leg below the knee. The boy was carried into the house and Drs. Dickson and Rankin summoned. His injuries are very serious, especially so as the boy was sun struck during the summer, since which time he has been very delicate. No arrests were made.

FORKED IT OVER.

Private Detectives Interviewed to Some Purpose by the Chief

Several days ago we noted the fact that two private detectives had informed a bank clerk in Allegheny, who had lost his gold watch at Indianapolis, that they would recover the watch for him for $100. He at first declined to pay the money but afterwards re-considered his decision and agreed to pay the money. The detectives then demanded $150, and refused to have anything to do with the matter for less than that amount. The affair came to the ears of Chief Hartzell, who at once notified the private detectives that he wanted that watch immediately, and that the sooner they handed it over the better it would be for them. The watch was placed in his hands yesterday. Such prompt action on the Chief's part deserves commendation.

THE LATE DR. HOWARD.

An Unfinished Sermon Read Last Night.

At the regular weekly prayer meeting last night at the Second Presbyterian church, the late Dr. Howard's, Mr. Wm. Bakewell, after the opening exercises, read an unfinished sermon which Dr. Howard was writing when he took sick, and upon which the ink was hardly dry when he died. It was intended for delivery last Sunday. The reading of it was listened to with great interest, and when through Mr. Bakewell made a few appropriate remarks. He was followed by Dr. Strong, President of the Pennsylvania Female College, Prof. Lowrie, of the Western Theological Seminary, and others, all of whom referred most feelingly to the deceased pastor, and spoke of him as one gone to receive the reward for good and faithful service.

THE "OUTLET" QUESTION.

The General Committee of Seven of the Chamber of Commerce Disbands Without Action

The committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce, at the suggestion of the citizens' meeting, held in Lafayette Hall, August 23rd, to consider the best and most feasible railroad route to the West and North, met at the call of the Chairman on Saturday, September 23rd, and heard the report from Wm. McCreery, President of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, and adjourned.

Yesterday afternoon another meeting was held to hear the report of the Kentucky and Northwestern Railroad, and other proposed routes. Mr. Street representing the Northwestern Railroad, being called upon for a statement of the advantages of his route, commenced his remarks with the statement that some of the most deeply interested friends of his road objected to the manner in which the committee were appointed. Thereupon Mr. J. R. McCune offered the following:

WHEREAS, Mr. Street has appeared before the committee, and has distinctly stated that some of the larger stockholders in the North Western Railroad whom he represented, and a number of prominent citizens with whom he has conversed, believe the committee to be unfairly constituted and biased in favor of another route, and appointed in consequence of that bias; therefore,

Resolved, That the committee without further action report back to the Chamber of Commerce, declining to act in the matter, and suggest the appointment of another committee.

The resolution was passed and the committee disbanded.

ATONEMENT DAY.

A Day Solemnly Observed by the Descendants of Abraham.

To-day is the Day of Atonement, one which is most solemnly observed by the Jews, and one on which they abstain from all labor. Religious services commence this morning and will be continued without intermission until nightfall.

The word atonement is one frequently used by the old English writers to express the closing of a breach between two alienated persons. In a theological sense the word is employed to describe the restoration of harmony between God and man, and the means by which that restoration is effected. The doctrine of atonement, of a reconciliation brought about between the creature and the Creator, through the agency of expiatory suffering, was common to all the ancient religions. Sensible of an interrupted communion with the Deity, and feeling themselves objects of displeasure, men thought to reinstate themselves and recover the forfeited favor of Heaven by expiatory rites and sacrifices. The Hindoos sought to placate the Deity by the blood of animals, and even resorted to the sacrifice of human beings. The Brahmins laid the sins of the people upon the head of a horse. But the blood of man, as being the highest of creatures, was deemed the noblest propitiation, the more efficacious if made freely. The man that immolated himself was believed not only to expiate his own sin but those of his kindred. The self-sacrifice of a King or a priest was sufficient to atone for the sins of a nation. The Chinese also believed that by sacrifices of fruits, grain, beasts or human beings avert or remove the calamities inflicted by an offended God. Herodotus says the Egyptians in offering sacrifices called upon Heaven to lay upon the heads of the victims any evil menacing the people. In the traditions of Greece and Rome are numerous instances of human sacrifices, many of them self-dedicated, to avert impending public calamities.

The sin offerings of the Hebrews had a similar expiatory significance, and were brought to propitiate an offended Jehovah. The victim was regarded as a substitute for the sinner, who laid upon it the doom he had incurred himself. In Lev. xvii. 11 it is declared that "The life of the flesh is the blood, and I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for the soul." The belief in a propitiation of God through vicarious sufferings is frequently expressed in the old Scriptures, as, for example, 2 Sam. xii. 15; xxiv. 10; Isaiah liii; 4. The notion of transferred or imputed guilt is also distinctly conveyed in Deut. ch. xxi; Jeremiah xxxiv. 18; Levit xvi. 21; Isaiah xliii. 3. Among the Hebrews propitiatory or atoning sacrifices were offered for the whole people at the New Moon, the Passover, Pentecost, the Feast of Trumpets, the Feast of Tabernacles, and the great day of Expiation, or Day of Atonement. The establishment of the latter day is recorded in Levit xiii. 27th and 28th verses. The day is also observed by the descendants of the Hebrews as a day of repentance, and during to-day they are expected to fast as well as to abstain from the pursuit of their daily avocations.

ABRAHAM DICKERSON filed a libel in the United States District Court yesterday against the steamboat "Lion," because of a collision. An attachment issued.

JOHN NICKLE and wife instituted proceedings in Common Pleas No. 1 yesterday against John and Catharine Lang, to recover damages for slander. A capias was issued.

THE case of Pat Megraw, for beating Officer Bennett, of the Mayor's police, will not be called until the next term of court. Officer Bennett is still very weak and is unable to go on duty.

AN action for trespass was instituted in Common Pleas No. 1 yesterday by John Matthews, Jr., against Thomas McMichael and W. J. McIlwain. The defendants are constables, and it is alleged they sold a horse on an execution against the plaintiff, which he claims was illegal. Hence the suit for damages.

WILLIAM J. MOORE filed in Court No. 1 yesterday a bill in equity against Hannah Moore et al., to effect the division of a tract of land in the Eleventh and Thirteenth wards, of which he is owner in fee simple of one-half, and the defendants owners of the remainder. The appointment of a master and commissioner in partition is asked.

THE Supreme Court will meet in room No. 1 of Common Pleas Court No. 2, this city, on the first Monday of October. There are two hundred and fifty cases on the list to be disposed of, one hundred and forty of which are from this county. The first two weeks of the term and the two weeks commencing on the first Monday of October have been set apart for hearing Allegheny county cases.

THE GAZETTE of yesterday published an item of court news, relative to the application of Mr. Alexander, of the First district, Third ward, Pittsburgh, to have his name placed on the registry list. It now appears that Benton Patterson, to whom Mr. Alexander applied for registration, is not the Register but the ward Assessor. Mr. Thos. P. Duncan is the Register of that ward, and Mr. Alexander did not apply to him to be registered, as he should have done.

A DIFFERENCE of opinion exists between H. H. McCormick, Esq., present District Attorney, and David Reed, Esq., Mr. McCormick's predecessor, as to which of them is entitled to the commission on the amount paid by Isaac Thompson for a settlement of the cases against Samuel Thompson for a violation of the revenue laws. The amount paid as previously stated was $58,000, and the commission would be a fat fee for the one who receives it. The matter was argued before Judge Ketcham yesterday, and the proceedings are said to have been of a decidedly lively character.

THE SCHOOL EXCURSION.

Final Arrangements for the Trip to the Centennial—Both the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Schools to Go.

The trip of the Allegheny county school children to the Centennial is assuming more definite shape, and from present appearances will in all probability come off.

Yesterday afternoon the special committees of the Allegheny School Controllers, and of the Central Board of Education of this city, met at the Board rooms on Fourth avenue to consider the proposition of Mr. Smythe.

Mr. Craig was called to the chair, and stated the object of the meeting. Mr. W. C. Smythe was then introduced, and explained his plan. After he got through the committees decided to separate and act upon the proposition independently.

The Allegheny committee organized by calling 'Squire D. L. Smith to the chair. After a brief discussion they decided to accept the proposition.

Following are the members of the Allegheny Committee on Arrangements:

Dr. John Hamilton, John Hopkins, D. L. Smith, R. C. Miller, J. S. R. Stewart, Dr. T. C. Wallace, Edward Forrester, Jessie Sutton, J. H. Richards, Samuel Watson, W. H. Slack, Prof. John Davis.

The Pittsburgh Committee also decided to accept the proposition, and passed resolutions fixing Monday, October 16th, as the day for starting; appointing Messrs. Craig, Lewis and Luckey as a committee to issue circulars, and make other arrangements, and calling upon the Principals of the schools to make an immediate canvass of their districts and report without delay the number of pupils and others desiring to go.

The excursion will leave the Union Depot, by the Pennsylvania railroad, on Monday morning, October 16th, and return by daylight on Thursday, the 19th. Two full days will thus be allowed to visit the Exposition.

The railroad fare for the round trip will be, for pupils, teachers and directors, five dollars, and for parents and guardians of pupils seven dollars. The tickets will be good for ten days, so that those desiring to remain in Philadelphia longer than two days can do so.

Arrangements have been made for boarding, admission to the Exposition, lunch on the grounds, &c. The expenses of the trip for four days will be as follows:

Railroad fare	$5 00
Boarding	3 60
Dinner on grounds, two days	1 00
Admission to Exposition, two days	50
Car fare to and from grounds	30
Lunch on return trip	10
Total	$10 50

The excursionists will provide lunch on the trip going.

No pupil under ten years of age will be permitted to join the excursion unless accompanied by parent or guardian.

This excursion is to embrace all the schools, both public and private in Allegheny county. All persons connected with educational interests, desiring to accompany it, and residing north of the rivers, will report to the Allegheny committee, and in the rest of the county to the committee of the Central Board of Education of Pittsburgh, at 81 Fourth avenue.

The committee are assisted by Wm. C. Smythe, Esq., who has charge of the railroad arrangements.

Teachers are requested to make an early canvass of their schools, and report to the committee without delay.

The Pittsburgh committee is as follows: Thomas J. Craig, Joseph H. Nobbs, Charles C. Taylor, Charles W. Lewis, George J. Luckey, Charles A. Kehew, and Samuel Harper.

Arrangements will be made to have a brass band accompany the excursionists.

The Blind Made to See.

A little child only eleven months of age, the son of C. L. McGaughy, who resides at No. 2529 James street, on the South Side, was operated upon yesterday morning by Dr. O. W. Sadler for cataract. He has been blind from birth, with a cataract in each eye. The surgeon placed the little fellow under the influence of ether, and effectually destroyed the cataract in the right eye. After the little one has fully recovered from this operation the other eye will be operated upon, and thus the blind will be made to see.

····A little three year old boy slipped and fell on Buchanan street, Troy Hill, Allegheny, yesterday morning, and sustained a fracture of one of his legs.

····The Pennsylvania Railroad to-day increases to $14 the price of round trip tickets between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Single trip tickets will be $6.

····There is no clue yet to the bank robbers. It is feared that they have made good their escape, and will avoid the punishment they so richly deserve.

····The extensive landslide on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, twenty miles west of Cumberland has been removed, and trains are now running as usual.

····Pennsylvania's week at the Centennial Exposition commences to-day. The banks will be closed, and yet remain open to customers having notes maturing to-day.

····John Detzel, a baker at Goettman's bakery, on Madison avenue, Allegheny, fell down a pair of stairs on Tuesday evening, and dislocated his thigh. Dr. Easton attended him.

····A reunion of the members of Prof. R. H. Kelly's class, of the Washington schools, in 1869, will be held at the Professor's residence in Woodville, on the evening of the 6th prox.

····Officer Bertges found a piece of a valuable gold breastpin, on North avenue, Allegheny, on Saturday evening. The owner can get it by calling at the Allegheny Mayor's office.

····Mr. J. R. Williams, of this city, was robbed at Cumberland, Md., on Monday, by a tramp, of a coat worth $20, and other personal effects. They were taken while he was at dinner at the Queen City Hotel.

····The Franklin Literary Society, of the South Side, has elected the following officers: President, W. J. Brennan; Vice President, H. J. Bigger; Secretary, O. C. Mercer; Treasurer, J. L. King; Librarian, F. M. Gessner.

····The residence of Capt. D. M. Donehoo, at Beaver, was entered by burglars a night or two ago, and $300 worth of valuables stolen. Two other residences were entered the same night, but nothing else stolen.

····The stockholders of the Pittsburgh, Wheeling & Kentucky Railway Company will meet in Wheeling, to-day, for the purpose of electing directors and authorizing the issue of $200,000 of bonds to be secured by mortgage.

····Elias Wildman Lodge No. 549, I. O. O. F., has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: N. G., Joshua Rhodes; V. G., Edward Lindsay; A. S., H. C. Duval; Trustee, S. McCausland; Representative to Grand Lodge, J. S. Edgar.

····George W. Stoeckel, who stabbed himself so numerously at the St. James Hotel, Tuesday evening, is laboring from a very severe attack of delirium tremens, at Passavant's Hospital. His condition is considered critical by the physicians.

····A night school for mechanical drawing has been opened in the Lawrence School District, under charge of Mr. A. Leschorn, a competent draughtsman. So far only about twenty young men have appeared. The school should be largely attended.

····Justice Hill, of Mansfield borough, yesterday, returned to the Coroner's office and inquest held by him upon the remains of a little girl named Catharine McVickers, seven years of age, who was killed by a coal train at Walker's Mills. The verdict was accidental death.

····"I ain't afraid of any fellow I ever saw," said a pretty, but fast young girl to a smooth faced youth last evening on Park Way, Allegheny. "And," she added, "the next time you come around to our house when Tom Jones is there I'll scald you." She wanted him to choose another night.

····Clara Bouser, the girl who came to the city hunting her mother and couldn't find her, of which notice was made in yesterday's GAZETTE, was made happy yesterday forenoon. The newspaper notices brought the mother to the Mayor's office in search of her, and they left together well pleased.

····A Jew minister, who preaches in thirteen different languages, and who wears a long black gown, closely fitting skull cap, and exceedingly long hair, was an object of interest at the Union Depot yesterday. His name is Rev. Experdi. After getting lunch he was experdited on his journey.

····The original and veritable John Smith was before the Mayor last evening, charged with drunkenness. He had been to the Workhouse several times before, and was generally worthless, as people who read the papers have long since found out. The Mayor told him he was no good to himself, to his family, or to the community, and therefore sent him up for sixty days.

····As train 44 from Pittsburgh, arriving in this city at 10:30 A. M., was approaching this city between Strouthers and Hazelton, yesterday forenoon, the engine was ditched and the passengers were shaken up badly. The workmen on the road had taken up several rails and had neglected to flag the approaching train, which came tearing along, with the result as above stated. It is remarkable, yet no one was hurt, but little damage resulted, and the train was delayed but a short time.—Youngstown, O. Tribune.

····Superintendent Street reported yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Humane Society that during the week preceding thirteen cases of cruelty had been reported at the office. These were all investigated and relief afforded in each one without resorting to legal measures. The revenues of the Society are decreasing, the debt which it has incurred in the prosecution of its work is increasing, and Mr. Street says that it stands badly in need of financial assistance from such citizens as sympathize with it and are amply able to extend substantial help.

····The Board of Viewers were yesterday engaged in hearing property holders along Second avenue, in order to establish and assess the amount of benefits and damages. There was a large turnout of property owners. After hearing all the claims the Viewers assessed the damages resulting from grade 11 1-2 cents per pool, on property located on the south side of the avenue, and about eight cents per foot on the north side, except at the upper end, where north side property has been vastly improved, and is assessed the same as on the south side. Property on cross streets contiguous to the avenue, which furnishes the only outlet to the business portions of the city, has also been assessed at eight cents per foot.

····The officials of the Panhandle Railroad have effected settlements with all the parties injured by the recent accident on that road near Columbus. The noticeable feature of these settlements has been that in almost every instance the injured person received more than was asked. Several declined to take anything when compensation was first suggested by the railway officials, because they regarded the accident as unavoidable. Most of the injured who were detained said they would be satisfied with the payment of their hotel bills. These bills of course were paid, and such other attention was given as was deemed necessary to make the remainder of the respective unfinished journeys comfortable and convenient as possible.

PERSONAL.

Rev. J. Gatchell will deliver a lecture this evening in the South Common M. E. Church, Allegheny. His subject is "Ship and Shore."

Judge W. D. Kelley, of Philadelphia, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Ohio, to assist the Republican party in the campaign there. He spoke last night at Youngstown.

Mr. Thomas S. Mitchell announces himself as a candidate for the office of City Treasurer. His opponents are Col. Samuel Kilgore, Maj. Joseph F. Denniston, R. B. Brown, of the South Side, and contractor Wm. J. Flinn.

Mr. B. F. Hasson, who has for a few years been connected with the Washington (Pa.) Observer, as editor and part proprietor, has disposed of his interest to Mr. C. M. Campbell, of Cambridge, Ohio. Mr. Campbell took his position on Friday last, and the firm will now be known as Shellman & Campbell.

Col. Wm. E. Merrill, of the U. S. Engineer Corps, arrived in the city yesterday and went up the Monongahela river to inspect the work at dam No. 9, below Morgantown. Owing to the failure of the Government to appropriate money for the job it seems likely that it will have to be abandoned for the winter.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

JOHN KELLY, for disorderly conduct, drunkenness, and general worthlessness, was sent to Claremont for six months yesterday by the Mayor.

JOHN MCILHENNY, who was charged before Mayor Phillips with having stolen a wagon, was discharged from custody yesterday, after a hearing.

MARY PRYOR took $2 from a pocket in John Kane's vest. She refused to return it and John had her arrested for larceny. She had a hearing before the Mayor, and was held for trial.

IN default of $500 bail Frank Brehm, who is charged with the larceny of $104 from a Madison avenue, Allegheny, tobacco factory, was committed to jail yesterday by Mayor Phillips for trial.

ANDREW COOPER, who proved to be the obstacle that officer Long's hand encountered on Monday evening, fracturing a bone, was sent to the Workhouse yesterday by Mayor Phillips for sixty days for disorderly conduct.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Local Political Notes—Doings in and About the Cities.

The Sixteenth ward Hayes and Wheeler club announce a grand procession for the inauguration of the campaign in that ward, Thursday evening, September 28th. Republicans of the ward residing on the main thoroughfares are requested to illuminate their premises, and to turn out in procession on horseback, in wagons or on foot. Wm. Irwin will be chief marshal.

The Republican conferees of the Twenty-fourth Congressional district, after a two days session without agreeing upon a candidate, adjourned last evening to meet Friday, October 6th. The November election is drawing near and it is time the Republican ticket in the several counties composing the Twenty-fourth district was completed, and, while not wishing to dictate to the gentlemen who compose the conferee, we hope they will complete the work for which they were appointed at their next meeting and all go to work in earnest to roll up there usual Republican majorities in their respective counties.

J. H. Kerr, on behalf of the ladies of the Eighteenth ward, will present the Hayes and Wheeler marching club of the ward with a beautiful flag on Saturday evening next, on which occasion David Kirk will deliver the speech of acceptance on the part of the club. The marching clubs of all the adjoining and neighboring wards, and of East Liberty and other wards throughout the city, have been invited and are expected to be present. C. W. Lewis, Esq., has been chosen Chief Marshal for the occasion.

The Republicans held a large meeting in Sharpsburg Tuesday night, attended by several marching clubs of the two cities, among which were the Lawrenceville and Eighteenth and Nineteenth ward clubs, with the Seventeenth Ward Glee Club at the head of the procession. This glee club is composed of representatives of several branches of business, as follows: Two attorneys, two aldermen, one locksmith, two lumbermen, one plasterer, one iron-worker and one dry-goods man, with 'Squire Mitchell and Dick Peterson as leaders. The meeting was presided over by Howard J. Surtleff, Esq., and the speakers were Alex. McIntosh, Esq., Maj. Wm. Frew and S. P. Fulton, Esq.

No efforts will be spared to make the demonstration on the South Side by the Hayes and Wheeler marching clubs on Saturday night, October 7th, a success. The Committee on route meets on Friday evening next at the office of the Grand Marshal, Duputy Mayor Hoerr.

John Megraw will address the Republican meeting at Knapp's Battery Armory, on Thursday evening.

The Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee has invited A. B. Richmond, Esq., of Woodville, to speak at a number of meetings in this State, and Mr. Richmond has accepted the invitation. He will enter upon his duty as soon as the appointments are arranged. Mr. Richmond is a forcible talker, and will perform excellent service during the campaigd.

The captains of the marching clubs of Allegheny are to meet at Knapp's Battery Armory, on Thursday evening next, to perfect arrangements for the parade on Friday evening following.

Andrew Burtt and Isaac Craighead are the Cooper electors for the Twenty-second and Twenty-third districts.

The Republican marching clubs on the south side of the river are invited to participate in the demonstration in Allegheny Friday evening, the 29th inst., and are requested to form as follows: All clubs west of the Smithfield street bridge, to form on Carson street, west of the bridge, and those east to form on Carson street, east of the bridge at 7 o'clock sharp.

The officers of the several Republican marching clubs in the Twenty-third Congressional district, will hold a meeting at the armory of Knapp's battery, Allegheny city, this evening. A Republican mass meeting will be held at the same place, this Thursday evening, which will be addressed by Mr. John Megraw.

The Cooperites held a delegates' convention at Maltby Hall, Fifth avenue, Tuesday evening, composed of twelve delegates. The delegates claimed to represent 34 greenback clubs numbering in the aggregate 2,300 men. The propriety of putting up a full county ticket was discussed, but referred to a convention to be held Wednesday of next week.

The Second ward, Pittsburgh, Republican marching club is called to meet this evening, fully equipped, at Grant street and Fourth avenue.

A large meeting of the Republicans of the Seventh ward, Allegheny, was held last evening for the purpose of organizing a club for the campaign. The following officers were elected: President, A. Arent; Vice President, C. Renkauf; Secretary, Adam Stork; Treasurer, F. Staple. One hundred and twenty persons then signed the roll. The next meeting will be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The preparations for the grand torchlight demonstration by the Republican clubs in Allegheny on Friday evening are progressing, and the turnout will be a large one.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Republicans of West Liberty borough, was held last evening. The Banksville and West Liberty Glee clubs were in attendance and entertained the audience throughout the proceedings. John W. Patterson, Esq., was called upon to preside. Thomas Smith, William Hass, Captain John R. Neeld, Roger Hartley, C. Wilhelm, John Paul, Isaac W. McIlwaine and C. Milholland, made Vice Presidents. Secretary, W. J. McIlvaine. Able and interesting speeches from I. N. Patterson, H. A. Collier and T. J. Brigham, Esqs., were attentively listened to and frequently applauded.

A CONFLAGRATION.

Karns City in Flames—The Telegraph Wire Down.

A telegram from Karns City, about one o'clock this morning, stated that a terrible conflagration was then raging in the town, but before anything definite in regard to the fire could be obtained the wires were severed and communication was cut off. Karns City is a town of about two thousand inhabitants, and lies about twelve miles northwest of Parker City, in Butler county. Like most of the towns in the oil regions the buildings are most if not all frame structures, with numerous oil wells and tanks in and around the town, and it is not at all improbable that the greater portion of the town is in ashes. Efforts were made to get telegraphic communication by other lines than that over which the first intelligence was received, but it could not be obtained. We will doubtless be able to give a detailed account of the fire to-morrow.

Adjourned Sale.

The remainder of the stock of boots, shoes and gaiters, of H. Perry, deceased, will be sold to-day, commencing at 10 o'clock. At the same time will be offered the shelving, counters and the safe. This is a good opportunity to secure bargains, as the above goods must be sold to close up the estate,

MANUFACTURING NOTES.

The Iron Industries of Pittsburgh and the Adjacent Country.

[From the American Manufacturer.]

MCCULLY'S window glass factory, which has been idle several weeks, resumed operations on the 21st.

THE American Iron Works is making seventy tons of rails for the Milwaukee and Wisconsin Railroad Company.

MESSRS. C. WEST & CO. took three out of four of the competition prizes given for carriages at the Exposition of the Industrial Institute.

THE Pittsburgh Cotton-tie Company are making about four tons per day of the Hordman & Coleman patent cotton-ties, and still are unable to fill all the orders offered.

C. COLEMAN & SON, Allegheny, manufacturers of wagons, carts, wheelbarrows &c., have received orders in one day for $10,000 worth of wagons, &c. They have a large number of heavy cane wagons on hand, which are intended for hauling sugar cane, and have more to make.

A PATENT has just been granted to Benjamin Bayliss, of this city, for American steel furnace for the manufacture of steel and iron, through the office of the Inventors' Protective and Benevolent Association of the United States, to care of which may be addressed any communications on the subject.

MESSRS. J. B. HARKER & CO.'S works are running full, with a fair trade. They manufacture turned hollowware, and keep for sale all the various kinds of hollowware manufactured in this country, including the granite ware manufactured by the St. Louis Stamping Co., for which they are the agents.

ALTHOUGH a small yield of oil is struck in second-sand rock at about 900 feet in the new well which is being bored by the Rochester Tumbler Co., for gas, it is proposed to carry the well 300 feet farther to the third-sand rock, as first intended. This is said to be in the same belt as the great Butler oil and gas wells.

J. B. SHERIFF exhibits several of the Dean pumps in Power Hall of the Tradesmen's Industrial Institute. One of these pumps, the No. 8, will throw 250 gallons per minute, through a ½-inch pipe. Their No. 5 is a boiler feeder, supplying the three Exposition boilers. The speed of this pump can be reduced to one minute forty-seven seconds to the stroke of 9¼ inches, one continuous motion.

JAS. JENKINS, Superintendent Union Iron Co., Buffalo, N. Y., in connection with John F. Wilcox, M. E., of Pittsburgh, has been experimenting for some time past with improvements in puddling and heating furnaces. We are pleased to hear that their efforts have met with most decided success. The full data of this will shortly be presented to our readers. The experiments have been carried on at Buffalo.

JUST across the Ohio River from McCoy's station, on the Pittsburgh and Wheeling Railroad, there is an old gas well which was purchased by some enterprising Yankees about four years ago, who built works and laid pipes to distribute the gas through a large number of burners, over which were placed a great extent of metallic plates, to collect the fine soot formed by the combustion of the gas. This soot being scraped off is collected in barrels which hold about forty pounds each, and is sold to printing ink manufacturers. The article used for this purpose was formerly sold at from $1.50 to $1.75 per pound, but it is now supplied by these parties at forty cents per pound. It is said that this well has yielded a profit in four years of $200,000.

MESSRS. MARSHAL BROS. are running their works full, and are doing a fair business. They have recently shipped a hydraulic press to the Singerly Printing House, at Harrisburg. This press is said to have a capacity of fifty tons pressure. They have also made a press of same size for Messrs. W. & D. Rinehart, for pressing tobacco. Their orders for cider press screws have been large this year, and they are turning them out as rapidly as possible, of various sizes. This firm are also building what they call Domestic Elevators, for private dwellings, of which a number are in use in this city. They have recently made some improvements in iron railing patterns, which is a branch of their business.

THE Duquesne Inclined Plane, on the South Side, opposite the Point, is making fine progress under the supervision of Civil Engineer H. Discher. The stone work at the upper end is nearly finished. At the lower end the excavations are being made, while the hillside work is entirely done. In fact, the entire stone work may be said to be nearly completed. Contracts for the boilers, engine and track will be let this week. The engines of this work will be placed at right angles to the track, not in line or parallel with it as in other inclined planes. The safety arrangement will be another new feature, and the invention of Mr. Discher. The boilers will be of the Douglass & Brown patent, two in number, one as a reserve. One other new feature will be the freight apartment that each car will have in addition to the regular passenger space. It is intended to have the plane in operation April 1st.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Mr. Nobles is the author of "The Phœnix," the play in which he so ably sustains the dual part of Graves and Bludsoe. Understanding of course the line of characters that he likes best to represent, he pleased his own fancy in the preparation of the one he impersonates in "The Phœnix," and in doing so he has pleased thousands of others. To be sure it is not of the highest class, but it represents a phase of individual life, which, all will confess, presents as many aspects as the kaleidoscope. In his ability to construct his own plays Mr. Nobles possesses a faculty that but few actors have and many yearn for. Some play-wrights do a lucrative business in these degenerate days in building parts for a single actor, and so subordinating the remaining roles that the play is generally more execrable than the actor, whose selfishness in absorbing all the attention and honor is generally only exceeded by his lack of talent. Mr. Nobles has very generously steered wide of the rock of offensive self-love, and has imparted to all the characters in "The Phœnix" an interest, and a life and spirit that relieves it from tediousness when he is not "on." Effie Ellmore, Moses Solomons, Kate Moran and Tom Fergus are all good parts, and what is equally to the purpose are in capable hands.

Library Hall.

Clemens, when he wrote "The Gilded Age," created a new dramatic character, but he failed in the construction of a drama. This is generally acknowledged, but one cannot resist the inclination to bury such imperfections as the play contains in the enjoyment of the superlative humor and manifold excellencies of Col. Sellers. He kept his auditors in a continual uproar of laughter, and his entrances were signals for breaking smiles, even before he had uttered a word.

Mr. Raymond could hardly ask for better support than is given him by the company, one of which is Miss Annie M. Ellsler, who made her debut on the stage on Monday evening in the character of Emily Hawkins. She has evidently studied hard and received careful training at the hands of that, to her, best of tutors, Mr. John Ellsler. She is young, and manifestly possesses the dramatic talent that seems to be inherent in nearly every member of her family. Her brother Harry seems to be the only black sheep in the flock, but, although he does not show much of a desire to figure on the stage, except when an audience obliges his appearance at a performance when he happens to be the beneficiary, his services in the box-office could not be dispensed with. Miss Ellsler, in building air-castles of domestic happiness last night, the acme of which was a new dress every four months and pie every day, acted so naturally, and was apparently so oblivious to the audience before her, that her listeners were quick to exhibit their pleasure and rewarded her with the applause that she certainly deserved. If, in addition to himself and wife, and Misses Effie and Annie, Mr. Ellsler has any more children that know so well how to act, let him fetch them on, for the public will be glad to see and welcome them.

Novelty Theater.

The sensational play of "Wild Bill" at this theater is preceded by an excellent olio entertainment which introduces the Cawthornes in their original act entitled "Little Two;" Miss Ida Siddons, danseuse, Miss Annie Hall, vocalist, Alfred Liston, who produces popular melodies on a collection of kitchen utensils, the Arnold Bros., in their triple clog dance, John Cottrell and the revolving globe, and Zitella, the sensational vocalist. The "Novelty" is the best variety theater in the city at which to pass a pleasant evening.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

The Great Race at Louisville—Tenbroeck Running Against Fellowcraft's Time in a Four-Mile Heat—He Wins in 7:15 3-4—The Best Time on Record.

LOUISVILLE, September 27.—The grounds of the Louisville Jockey Club were more than crowded to-day, thousands of home people and strangers gathering there to witness the famous Tenbroeck make his run against the time of Fellowcraft's four miles in 1874 at Saratoga in 7:19½. Since then it has been thought the time could not be equaled, and up to-day it has not. The betting was about even last evening, but to-day, with a clear sky and a good track before them, the people of Kentucky put their money on the horse, letting strangers look after time. Add was entered in the race with Tenbroeck, and in the send off led one-half length. He soon took the second place, and from then on steadily dropped behind. The first mile was made in the slow time of 1:52¾. Harper, Tenbroeck's owner, stood at the string, and excitedly moved his hat to go on. The jockey complied and scored the second mile in 1:45½, and the third in 1:46¼. At the commencement of the fourth mile Add was twelve lengths behind. A new horse now joined in the race, running up along side of Tenbroeck. The two galloped along together a quarter of a mile, when Tenbroeck shot forward, and never was again behind the fresh horse. As he came down the finish the thousands who had been quiet, now feeling Fellowcraft's time would be wiped out, gave forth loud, long and enthusiastic cheers. The last mile was made in 1:50¾, and the entire distance in 7:15¾, or 3¾ seconds quicker than Fellowcraft's time, and four seconds than Lexington's at New Orleans in 1855.

Mr. Frank Harper, the owner, was congratulated by hundreds amid wild scenes of dancing, shouting, throwing hats, &c. Willie Walker rode the victor. Bobie Swim was on Add, who on the finish was at the distance pole. An offer of $120,000 for Tenbroeck has been refused.

The second race was a grand sweepstake for two year olds, dash of one mile. Belle of Meade won in 1:44¼.

The last race, 3-4 mile heats, all ages, was won in two straight heats by Easter Planet. Time 1:16 1-4 and 1:17 1-2.

The Races at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, September 27.—The inaugural Breeders, Centennial trotting meeting opened to day. The first race was the Revolution race for three year olds, purse $2,500. There were eleven entries, although only the following started: Joe Hamilton, Caloric, Aldine, Honor, Sir Walter, Odd-Fellow, Jerome and Woomoso. Aldine won in two straight heats, Woomoso second. Time 2:40 and 2:40¼.

The second race was the Independence race for five year olds, purse $2,500, mile heats, three in five. There were eight entries, but only five started—Gov. Sprague, Blackwood, Jr., Elsie, Good, Lady Mills and Nellie. Gov. Sprague won in three straight heats, Blackwood, Jr., second. Time 2:24½, 2:26 and 2:27.
